F. Sinclair, multi-millionaire oil mag-

He spent the first of the 90 nights may spend the other nights there, for it is the dormitory used by prisoners employed in the jail office, and the oil multi-millionaire may be assigned to this work. How he will serve his time will be determined tomorrow.

Georgia Legislature Asked To Match Federal Funds For State Topography Map

Fulton and DeKalb Also Urged in Resolutions of Engineers To Have Atlanta Work Extended.

Resolutions requesting the Georgia legislature to match federal funds for a topographical survey of the state and asking the commissioners of Fulton and DeKalb counties to put up enough money to match federal money so that the topographic map of Atlanta may be extended throughout the two counties, were adopted Monday afternoon by the Georgia section of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

This action was taken following an address by Colonel Glean S. Smith, federal division engineer in charge of the Atlantic division, at the section's meeting at the Atlanta Athletic Club. President R. G. Loe, of the section, was authorized to appoint a committee to call on the county commissioners, on a motion by William A. Hensell, former city chief of construction.

Story of Topography.
Colonel Smith told the story of topographic mapping, from the time the first map was made in 3300 B. C., in Babylon, to the present day. First used only for military purposes, topographic maps today are essential to accurate engineering work and 80 per cent of Georgia is without such maps, Colonel Smith said. If Georgia appropriates as little as $25,000 to match a similar amount of federal money, 10 engineers will be put into the state to do the work, and can map at least 1,000 square miles a year, he said.

Colonel Smith pointed out how a great deal of money is saved by the use of topographic maps, particularly in the cases of railroads, natural resources, soil surveys, and water-power.

Dr. S. W. McCallie, state geologist, said that if the state saves only the cost of one mile of road in one section, at an investment of $3,000 for the maps, the road cost of $35,000 per mile would more than pay for the investment.

Johnson Praises Plan.
Major D. L. Warr, U. S. district engineer at Savannah, and Ralph H. Rhodes, civil engineer in the engineer's office at Savannah; Fulton County Commissioners Walter C. Hendrix and Walter B. Stewart; DeKalb Commissioner L. Y. T. Nash, and members of the Tech student chapter attended the luncheon.

J. Houston Johnston, consulting engineer of the Georgia Public Service Commission, said that the state would benefit 100-fold from a small amount of expense for the maps. He told how a short line railway built in 1912 could have saved $250,000 in first cost and operation on miles of track if it had had the use of topographic maps.

A motion picture, "The Story of Topography," was shown at the conclusion of the speaking program.

CITY HALL LEASE BID REJECTED BY COUNCIL

Committee Authorized To Spend $77,083 Additional on New Building.

Proposed lease of the present site of the Atlanta city hall at Forsyth and Marietta streets to J. P. and W. H. Peacock, of Cochran, for 99 years at an aggregate rental of $6,270,000 was rejected Monday afternoon by city council, and the special city hall committee was empowered to contract for reinstatement of $77,083 in the contract for completion of the new city hall at Washington and Mitchell streets.

Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, chairman of the special city hall committee, which recommended acceptance of the lease proposal, declared that the city will have "a hard time getting other bidders to submit proposals."

"We are making a joke of this lease, and are hurting our chances of getting a lease at a reasonable figure," Mr. McCutcheon said. "I regard the proposal as a good one and fair to the city."

Included among the re-instated items are fixtures for the tax collector, tax assessors, marshal, city clerk and other offices which deal with the public.

COUNCIL OVERRIDES VETO AT REQUEST OF MAYOR OF CITY

City council overrode a veto of Mayor L. N. Ragland Monday afternoon at the mayor's request.

The members voted to make effective a proposal passed at the last meeting of city council which extended the time for replacement of shingle roofs in Atlanta from June 9 of this year to June 9, 1931.

In vetoing the paper, the mayor was under the impression that the extension would cause an increase in insurance rates. He held a conference with officials of the Southeastern Underwriters' Association and was informed that such was not the case.

At the same time council sustained the mayor's veto of a measure designed to force developers of subdivisions to set aside a certain portion of the territory to be developed for park purposes.

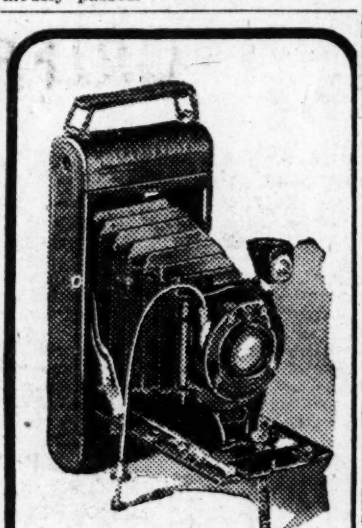

In asking council to override his veto, the mayor set an all-time precedent, according to political observers.

Popular City Councilman Is Now on Honey-moon.

Congratulations of his fellow council members were extended to Councilman Robert M. Cobb, Jr., Monday in adoption of a resolution offered by Alderman Oscar H. Williamson, of the ninth ward.

Mr. Cobb was out of the city on his honeymoon, having been quietly married to Miss Margaret Dove several days ago. He is one of the most popular members of council and Mr. Williamson's resolution was unanimously passed.

Final Figures In Tornado Loss Set at Augusta

Augusta, Ga., May 6.—(AP)—Fifty-three lives, 322 persons injured, 72 of them severely, and $1,500,000 property loss were listed as the toll of the Georgia tornadoes by Walter Davidson, assistant general field manager of the American Red Cross, who arrived here today after a trip through the stricken area. He spoke at a luncheon.

Mr. Davidson said crop damage was severe throughout a strip 100 miles long and varying from one-fourth to one mile in width. Crops over an area of 15,000 acres were listed as a total loss.

Immediate relief needs call for $150,000, of which the national Red Cross has donated $25,000, to be immediately available, he said.

Small towns near the stricken territory have responded well to the call for funds, the Red Cross worker said, listing among other donations $2,000 from Dublin, approximately $1,000 from Laurens county through the commission, $500 from the Dublin city council, $2,000 from Cochran and $2,500 from Statesboro.

Augusta has been assigned a quota of $5,000.

PLAN TO INCREASE MAYOR'S TENURE HEARD IN COUNCIL

Proposal to increase the term of the mayor of the city of Atlanta from two to four years and the tenure of office of council members from two to three years was referred to the charter revision committee of city council when offered at council's regular semi-monthly session Monday afternoon.

The measure was offered by Councilman James L. Wells, of the eighth ward.

Council adopted a measure offered by Alderman Ed Gilliam, of the twelfth ward and chairman of the charter revision committee, to deny what is known as the Rockdale district, a negro settlement, in the fifth ward. The paper will go to the Georgia legislature at its next session for approval.

A measure intended to create a "thirteenth ward" in Atlanta, which was offered by Alderman Oscar H. Williamson, was referred to the charter revision committee for a recommendation.

Nine changes in zoning were authorized by council after they were presented with the favorable recommendation of the ordinance committee and the city planning commission.

James, of the Capitol.

The measure was passed by both the house and senate at the last session of congress, but failed to secure the signature of the president because of pressure of business at the White House during the closing days of the last administration.

Nashville, Tenn., May 6.—(AP)—Although unable to reach a verdict after more than two days' deliberation, the jury trying Walter Liggett for the murder of Turner Cunningham, hotel manager, was ordered locked up again tonight by Judge Chester K. Hart.

The jury reported four times today that it could not reach a decision. Only one juror, J. F. Hazelwood, held forth hope of an agreement.

Liggett maintained that he shot Cunningham in self-defense following a meeting with the slain hotel man's wife.

THOMAS W. MILLER WILL GO FREE TODAY

Former Alien Property Custodian To Be Released on Parole.

Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, former secretary of Delaware, his native state, and an ex-member of congress from Delaware, will be released from the Atlanta federal penitentiary today on parole.

Miller enlisted in the service of his country as a private at the outbreak of the war and when it ended he held the rank of lieutenant colonel. He was cited by his commander and General John J. Pershing for gallantry in action during his service.

He was convicted in New York in 1927 on charges of having entered a conspiracy to defraud the government of his best services in settlement of certain claims with the German government after the war. Miller was sentenced to serve two years and pay a fine of $5,000 and counting time for good behavior his term would expire July 7, of this year. He has been eligible for parole since last October. He has paid the fine.

Despite the fact that Miller will be released, he will not be permitted to discuss his case in any form until the expiration of his term, July 7. This is due to a gag rule clamped on federal offenders by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney-general in charge of federal prisons. It is said.

Miller served as Warden John W. Snook's clerk in the trust office until recently, but when Mr. Snook left the institution he was transferred "inside the wall" on orders of Willebrandt, it was declared.

He was one of the organizers and a former national officer of the American Legion and in 1924-25 served as president of Fidae, the allied legion, consisting of veterans of organizations of the nine allied countries in Europe and this country which served in the World War. Headquarters are maintained at Paris.

When he leaves the institution he is entitled to $5, a suit of clothes and transportation to his home, as are all who serve terms at the institution.

Hoover Reiterates His Plan To Visit In West Indies

Washington, May 6.—(AP)—President Hoover gave assurance today to M. M. Kornegay, Havana newspaper publisher, that he will carry out his pre-inauguration determination to visit Havana and other of the West Indies islands while he is chief executive.

He also disclosed that it is his purpose to include the Panama Canal Zone in his itinerary. He may go to Haiti, Santo Domingo and the Virgin Islands during the same journey. Such a trip might keep him out of the United States for a month or more.

The president's plans are indefinite as he must fit them in with the situation in Washington. He would be unable to spare the time for the journey while congress was in session and it would not be expected that he would visit the West Indies during the mid-summer months because of the extreme heat.

ALDERMEN REFUSE TO APPROVE DEAL FOR FIRE STATION

Members of the aldermanic board Monday declined to sanction exchange of the site of fire station No. 8 at Spring street and Carnegie way for another location at Techwood drive and Cain streets and construction of a new fire house to cost $40,000. The vote was six against and four for.

Masell Realty Company made the proposal, but members of the aldermanic board held the exchange was not a good trade for the city.

Other papers sent to the aldermen by city council were approved.

MORE PUBLIC ACTIVITY BY KIWANIANS URGED

International President Cummings Speaks to Georgia Officers at Luncheon.

Officers of the Georgia District of Kiwanis International Monday were urged by O. S. Cummings, international president of the organization, to spur their member clubs and all individuals under their direction to greater activity in public affairs and to see that each club has an adopted program for the general benefit of the community in which it is established.

Mr. Cummings, who arrived here Saturday from his home at Dallas, Texas, was the speaker at a luncheon given Monday noon in the civic room at the Ansley hotel for all officers of the district. The luncheon was held at 12:30 p.m.

$3.50—AUGUSTA, GA.
And return, Saturday, May 11th.
Tickets good 2 days. Ga. R. R. (adv.)

Addressed the national president by M. P. Pope, of Washington, district Kiwanis governor for Georgia.

"Each Kiwanis Club, though mindful of the purposes of the state, national and international organizations, should have its own individual purposes," Mr. Cummings told the district officers. "These purposes should conform, of course, to the needs of your own communities."

Confers With Leaders.

The international president, who arrived here Saturday to remain three days, spent Monday afternoon hearing reports from the district leaders and conferring with them on plans for the widening of Kiwanis operations in this section.

Mr. Cummings was a guest of honor at a dinner and dance Monday night at the East Lake Country Club, which was attended by a number of officers and leaders of other Atlanta civic clubs. He also was the principal speaker at this dinner.

Things To Be Accomplished.

Mr. Cummings spoke generally on the aims of the Kiwanis and other similar organizations.

"There are certain things to be accomplished in this world which are cut exactly to fit the aims of Kiwanis and members of similar organizations," he said. "Some day the time may come when all of our civic organizations will function under the one program, with each club given a part of that program to work out. We have many, many things, and I think that civic clubs working together can accomplish more than five times as many individuals working as individuals."

Mr. Cummings will conclude his Atlanta visit today. He has long been identified with the Kiwanis movement, is a past president of the Kiwanis Club at Dallas and for the last nine years has been a member of the board of international trustees, serving several years as secretary. He was elected to the international presidency for the term of 1928-1930.

STEWART IS BETTER

U. S. Chief Deputy Clerk To Leave Hospital Soon.

Jon Dean Stewart, veteran chief deputy clerk of the United States district court for the northern district of Georgia, who has been seriously ill at the Davis Fischer hospital for the past week or 10 days, was reported Monday as being much improved. He is expected to be able to leave the hospital within the next 10 days.

3 BURGLARS ROUTED BY HAIL OF BULLETS

Trio Surprised in Act of Hauling Away Sandwich Shop Safe.

Three burglars, surprised shortly after 3 o'clock Monday morning in the act of carrying away a 1,000-pound safe stolen from the Pig 'N Whistle barbecue stand on Peachtree road were routed by a rain of bullets from pistols in the hands of county policemen.

The three burglars escaped. One of them is believed to have been wounded.

The county policemen, A. A. Stovall and J. C. Casey, were making their regular rounds when they noticed three figures on the porch of the sandwich shop. They moved closer to the shop and noted that the men were headed in the direction of a parked motor car nearby.

The policemen called to the trio to halt and when the call went unheeded they opened fire. The men fled in the direction of the Seaboard tracks. Investigation revealed that one of them apparently had fallen several times on his way to the motor car.

Employees of the shop said they had noticed three men hanging about and acting mysteriously shortly before closing time. Harold Hagan, president of the Pig 'N Whistle Company, Monday announced that he would pay $100 for information leading to the arrest of the yeggmen as it was the third time in four weeks that his company had been the victim of burglars, considerable loot having been taken in the two previous robberies.

Toms River, N. J., March 6.—The Rev. Ira E. Hicks, Baptist, believes this town is defiled with sin. He expressed his view from the pulpit in commenting on a high school production of "Miss Cherry Blossom." "In one scene," said the clergyman, "50 American boys and girls come on the stage with their arms about each other and later they actually kiss." School board officials said the play has been a favorite with schools and colleges for 25 years.

$50,000 DAMAGES ASKED AS RESULT OF AUTO COLLISION

Alleging that a collision between the automobile in which she was riding and another car on Peachtree road near the Veterans' hospital, was caused by the blocking of the road by a truck of the defendant, Mrs. B. E. Pruitt Monday filed suit in city court against the George Moore Ice Cream Company for $50,000 damages.

The plaintiff charges that the ice cream truck was parked at right angles to the curb and blocked the highway in such a manner that when going around the truck, her car was hit by another machine coming from the opposite direction. Attorneys John M. Morrow and John Commis represent Mrs. Pruitt.

PRISONER LOSES IN FIGHT TO HALT TRIP TO OKLAHOMA

Morris Gilbert, late of the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary, Monday engaged lawyers to fight extradition to Oklahoma, but before the attorneys could obtain the necessary papers, Gilbert was on his way out of the county in custody of a deputy sheriff, according to Jailer R. M. ("Bob") Holland, of Fulton tower. Gilbert was brought to the tower from the penitentiary Monday morning, and Governor Hardman issued extradition papers requested by Governor W. J. Holloway, of Oklahoma, for Gilbert, who is wanted in Osage county, Oklahoma, on a charge of embezzlement. Gilbert is alleged to have accepted payment for jewelry he never delivered, $2,900 being involved, it was said.

C. N. PORTER INDICTED

Prisoner Charged With Attempt To Murder.

Indictment charging C. N. Porter with assault with intent to murder S. O. Parsons Saturday was returned Monday by the Fulton grand jury. Porter, who operates a grocery store near Parsons' home, told officers he attempted to collect a bill for $120 for groceries from Parsons, and that when Parsons brought him two $1 bills, he started away to get change, and that Parsons hit him with his fist, knocking him to the ground. Porter claims that when Parsons started toward him with a drawn knife, he shot once.

Parsons is in Grady hospital with a bullet wound in the right lung. His condition is serious, but he is expected to recover. Len B. Guillebeau, attorney for Porter, said he would make application for bond for the defendant as soon as Parsons' condition improves.

There are 1805 offices in Atlanta which could use this keyless ledger. Is yours one of them?

We are pretty particular about the equipment we choose for the use of Atlanta business men. We have a right to be, for thousands of Atlanta business offices rely on us for recommendations as to stationery and record-keeping equipment. And so when it comes to ledgers we recommend "Aladdin," the modern keyless ledger which opens at the pressure of a thumb and saves the time of business men in offices, large and small. We know its makers, the National Blank Book Company, and we know they make the only kind of books Atlanta business men have any use for—faultlessly designed, flawlessly built equipment to stand the gaff of modern business.

"Aladdin" keyless ledgers expand at the touch of a lever and lock as easily. They lie flat for writing. They are compact, sturdy and businesslike. Obtainable in Atlanta only at our store.

CAMPAIGN FOR LAW BUILDING IS BEGUN

Only $12,500 Remains To Complete Fund at Mercer.

Macon, Ga., May 6.—(Special).—A campaign to raise $12,500, the amount necessary to complete a fund of $50,000 for a new building for the Mercer University Law school, was begun here today.

According to Dr. Spright Dowell, president of Mercer, the Mercer Law school measures up to the standards set by the various rating organizations in every respect except quarters. At present the school is located on the ground floor of Sherwood hall, a dormitory.

Practically half the goal of $50,000 has been pledged by citizens of Atlanta, Savannah, Columbus, Augusta and other cities. Half the remainder—$12,500—has been pledged by T. E. Ryals, Macon attorney, on condition that the remaining $12,500 be secured in Macon.

President Dowell expects the building committee to be ready to advertise for bids early next week for construction of the new building. The contract probably will be let at the meeting

FLORIDA TAX REFORM BILLS ARE REPORTED

Governor's Measures Pass Committee With But One Change.

Tallahassee, Fla., May 6.—(AP).—Governor Doyle Carlton's tax reform measures found their way successfully through the house committee on finance and taxation today, with but one minor amendment attached to the group of five bills. The chief executive spent three hours with the committee, explaining various portions of the bills before they were voted on. The favorable report on the measures brought a subsequent request from the committee that the administration program be made a special order of house business at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

With one exception the bills were approved by a vote of 10 to 1 in the committee. The exception brought a vote of 11 to 2.

The first measure approved provided for the depositary of sinking funds for road and bridge bonds issued by counties and special districts. It also established a board of administration with central power for apportionment of funds to the counties for payment of this indebtedness.

The second bill provided for similar distribution of school funds and a similar board of administration.

Apportionment of state road funds on a preferential basis through the state's 67 counties was provided in the third bill. This was amended at the suggestion of Representative Swager to provide for the department and county officials be allowed to disburse funds provided under the measure to the construction of lateral roads when there were no preferential roads in the county or when they had been completed.

OWEN ENJOINED FROM ASSAILING EXCHANGE CLUB

A temporary order to restrain Henry E. Owen, former executive employe of the National Exchange Club, from writing letters to members of the Atlanta Exchange Club or to magazines, attacking the national organization, was signed Monday by Judge John L. Humphries, of Fulton superior court.

The petition of the National Exchange Club alleges that Owen was discharged by Albert Gable, of the national organization, on April 22 because he disobeyed instructions from the organization and refused to report to the headquarters in Toledo when told to do so by R. C. White, who was sent here to relieve Owen.

The plaintiff claims that Owen was attacking the organization, alleging that it owed him money, and that the defendant was acting through spite and malice. The defendant is required to show cause on May 18.

Fly Quarantine Vigilance Continues Through Rain

24-HOUR DEFENSE LINE MAINTAINED

Valdosta, Ga., May 6.—(Special).—At the Mediterranean fly quarantine station south of Valdosta—generally termed "No Man's Land"—the scene shifts hourly and daily, and though it rains or shines, automobiles pour out of Florida and stopped for the routine search.

A visit to the station showed a dreary prospect as the inspectors stood on the highway, drenched in rain, and waved the cars into detention, which was on a rain-swept highway without covering of any kind. Neither the inspectors, the spectators, nor the inspected had shelter from the elements. They stood in the rain while the inspection went on. It was rather wet on baggage, but the orders were the "Fly shall not pass."

As evidence of the need for this quarantine, it is only necessary to mention the record of the inspectors for three days. On Friday 48 of the passing cars contained "host" products, either fruits, vegetables or flowers, and they were waved on. Saturday 41 cars were found to contain contraband while on Sunday the number ran to 30, the day being so wet that comparatively few cars were on the road.

Truck Held.

On Sunday one large truck was stopped and held in quarantine, it having been found to have a large infested area. Confiscated stuff is thrown into the large pits and covered with quicklime. As soon as the pits are filled with produce tanks of gasoline are emptied over the lined mass which is buried and then covered with earth and a new pit is started.

When "conscientious objectors" appear the inspectors work efficiently without argument, this being an illustration. A man ignored the signals to curve to one side, and stopped in the middle of the highway, demanding to know what he was stopped for. Inspector Zant explained to him and the driver of the car said he had nothing in his car, but he would not submit to the indignity of a search as he was a free American citizen, and the inspector was without authority.

Notice Served.

A federal quarantine notice was quickly slipped on his car and inspectors pushed it to one side. When the man realized then that he could not move his car, he told the inspectors he was willing to be searched and he had to remove all his baggage and open it. Then he put it all back without help before he could go on, and he admitted that he had learned a lesson and would treat any other quarantine line with more respect.

The public does not seem to realize the fact that practically all flowers in pots are under ban, and as a result the inspectors have already a large collection of pot plants and could make a rather attractive flower garden if they had time to arrange the samples they have seized.

FOURTH CORPS AREA MAKES FINE MARK IN RIFLE CONTEST

Results of the last national rifle contest were made known for the fourth corps area of the United States army Monday by Major General Richmond P. Davis, area commander. Contestants from the eight southeastern states comprising the corps area were reported to have set a high standard for proficiency in the use of firearms.

The regimental percentage in marksmanship for the 22nd infantry stationed at Fort McPherson, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and Camp McClelland, Ala., was 99.37, the highest of any infantry regiment stationed within the continental limits of the United States, being surpassed only by the 65th infantry, stationed in Porto Rico, with a percentage of 100, General Davis stated.

Results of the last contest, as reported at fourth corps area headquarters, are as follows:

Headquarters battery, 17th field artillery, Fort Bragg, N. C., winner National Rifle Association corps area pistol qualification; battery D, 17th field artillery, Fort Bragg, runner-up.

Rifle qualification, headquarters troop, 6th cavalry, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., winner; company F, 8th infantry, Fort Monrith, S. C., runner-up.

CHEMICAL GAS WAR MAY BE WAGED ON THE FRUIT FLY

Orlando, Fla., May 6.—(AP).—Chemical gas warfare may be resorted to in an effort to eradicate the Mediterranean fruit fly in infested areas of Florida, officials of the government laboratory here said today.

Dr. C. E. Baker, government chemist and entomologist at the laboratory, said he was experimenting with various kinds of gases and other means of eradicating the fruit fly, but refused to divulge what progress he was making or make any announcement as to whether or not warfare actually would be waged against the pest.

He said any announcement would have to be made by members of the state plant board, which is assisting government workers in the fight against the fly. None of the board members, however, would make any comment as to whether or not gas would be used.

A. C. Brown, assistant to Dr. Wilmon Newell, plant board commissioner, said chemists were working on several experiments with gas and that if one was found that proved practical such means extermination of the pest may be resorted to.

ROTARY SPEAKER DEFENDS CLUB AGAINST WRITERS

Fort Smith, Ark., May 6.—(AP).—"Columbus discovered America but H. L. Mencken and Sinclair Lewis discovered us," Paul P. Harris, of Chicago, founder and president emeritus of Rotary International told Rotarians of the 15th district at their annual conference here today.

"We don't need to make any other publicity efforts now," he continued.

In discussing criticisms and criticisms made by various writers at the expense of Rotary, Harris said the best thing the organization could do was to determine whether the criticisms were just and whether Rotary work was justifiable.

"I believe that its boys' work and its work among crippled children alone justify the existence of Rotary," he

TARIFF BILL READY FOR CONGRESS TODAY

85,000 Words in Measure To Be Submitted by the Committee.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES, United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, May 6.—An 85,000-word tariff bill that satisfies nobody completely will be presented to the house tomorrow by the ways and means committee after four months of consideration.

This measure has been surrounded by secrecy such as never maintained before about a matter of this importance, but enough has leaked out to provoke criticism from both industrial interests and farmers, and to stir up some excitement in foreign quarters.

The measure is the result of compromises and a check imposed on the committee by President Hoover for only a "limited revision." About a third of the rates have been changed in the Fordney-McCumber act of 1922, the last tariff act.

Farmers have learned that while the committee has raised agricultural rates generally, the advance in some cases is not as much as they had expected. Similarly, industrial rates have not been raised as high as many manufacturers had hoped. Expressions of dissatisfaction are heard at the capital from Pennsylvania and Massachusetts industrial representatives.

These are but advance indications of general comment that will begin to buzz tomorrow about noon when the bill is introduced formally by Chairman Hawley, of the committee, and made public. Democrats will learn, for the first time, just what has been going on in secret meetings of republican members who drafted the measure.

TOUR OF INSPECTION Federal Officials Here on Trip Over South.

Harold Dotterer, chief of the division of district offices of the United States department of commerce, and A. S. Chadwick, chief of the supply division, were in Atlanta Monday on a tour of inspection of the southeastern offices. They expected to leave Monday night for Birmingham and to go from there to Mobile and New Orleans, returning to Washington by way of Jacksonville.

DISARMAMENT BODY ADJOURNS SESSIONS WITH NO DATE SET

Geneva, May 6.—(AP).—The preparatory disarmament commission adjourned today with the next move toward disarmament awaiting action by the big five naval powers.

In adjourning, the commission left the date of the next meeting open, but with the understanding that it will be convened anew when the naval nations announce that they have achieved enough progress toward a naval agreement to justify summoning of what is expected to be the last session of the commission before convocation of an international conference on disarmament.

Pollock & Berg

A GREAT SALE OF MEN'S WEAR by One of Atlanta's Best Known Establishments

Pollock & Berg Will Offer to the Public Their Entire and Complete Stock, Involving Well Over $85,000.00

To Adjust Their Business

Has Been Given as the Reason for the Action by This Well-Known Clothing Company

Atlanta Looks Forward to This Event

For more than fourteen years the name of Pollock & Berg, of Atlanta, has been identified with the business history of this city and this section of the state of Georgia. During these years of active business, although along with others, reverses were received, this firm built their business on a strong and lasting foundation—that of service—opening for business in the old Piedmont Hotel block.

Moving then to their present location at 10-11 Peachtree street, N. E., the name of this store became a household one to the people of this section. Catering exclusively to the clothing needs of men and young men, it prospered and grew. In the elapse of years Pollock & Berg has kept pace with the pace set by Atlanta, and in order to better adjust themselves to the present trend of business have decided to stage a business adjustment of their entire and complete stocks in a store-wide selling event, in order to carry out plans that are made necessary by business conditions.

Every year that Pollock & Berg has been in business has been a year of confidence that is now behind this Business Adjustment that they will conduct. No matter whether you purchase for yourself or for another, a great portion of the satisfaction received and pride of possession comes from the past reputation of any firm's store, their policy, their merchandise, their advertising and its executive personnel. Pollock & Berg has acquired this confidence from the people of Atlanta and surrounding country through their years of honorable service and the merchandising of men's wear of quality, because nothing but America's finest stocks could find place in this high-grade establishment.

Through their years of business the Pollock & Berg label has been symbolic of but one quality: the best style, the latest, but one type of workmanship, the finest. The Pollock & Berg guarantee on any article of men's wear has always given assurance of lasting satisfaction.

The greatest asset of our business is the preservation of the good will that this section of Atlanta has seen fit to place in our store, a store of modern equipment and merchandise of the highest quality, ideals formed by many years of fair service and with other ideals of courtesy, quality, genuine worth and fair dealing to one and all.

These ideals that have given us such a wonderful name in Atlanta and throughout Georgia as one of the state's leading and finest men's wear institutions will prevail during this, the greatest merchandising event in our history. A store that thoroughly appreciates your patronage, where you can absolutely rely on getting all merchandise as advertised.

This is our store-wide sale to better adjust our business, and absolutely every article in our $85,000 stock has been reduced. We have had no mercy in marking down our stocks, in order to show conclusively to the people of Atlanta that this is the greatest disposal of standard merchandise that has ever been offered in our years of business history, and it is not a question now of profit, but to move the stock quickly.

This is the greatest occasion the men of Atlanta have ever had to completely stock their wardrobe at prices that are drastic in reduction and for merchandise that is high in quality. Check your needs today. Complete your entire wardrobe while you can make these savings. Everything will go. Nothing held back, nothing will be reserved, nothing remains. It is a golden opportunity for those seeking real clothing and furnishing values which come from Pollock & Berg during this sale.

This is positively a most unusual occasion where merchandise that is nationally known and seldom if ever advertised at such prices, is being sold in keeping with their new policy of business adjustment. This sale event will start promptly on Wednesday morning, May 8, at 10 o'clock.—(adv.)

Noted U. S. Psychiatrists Coming to Atlanta May 13 For National Convention

Approximately 500 Experts in Mental and Nervous Troubles Expected at Annual Meeting.

Plans for the annual convention of the American Psychiatric Association, which meets here during the week of May 13, are now being rapidly forwarded under direction of a general committee on arrangements, composed of southern psychiatrists, and an Atlanta committee composed of local doctors and city leaders.

About 500 doctors are expected to attend the sessions which are to be held at the Billmore throughout the week. Monday and Tuesday will be devoted to the discussion of epilepsy and the remainder of the sessions will be devoted to psychiatric problems.

Among those who already have indicated their intentions to attend are scores of the country's best known authorities on mental and nervous troubles. Superintendents or officials of nearly every large hospital for mental diseases in the United States, professors, authors and research workers in addition to psychiatrists in private practice will be among those attending this meeting.

The convention here marks the first time since its organization in 1844 that the association has selected a southeastern city for its convention. Only twice has it met anywhere in the south. Many civic and professional groups are availing themselves of this opportunity to hear noted authorities on psychiatry by arranging for the visitors to address meetings when the convention sessions are not being held.

The sessions will be closed to all but medical men but it has been announced that should there be any general public demand for it a public session will be held, at which time noted doctors will tell, in terms understandable to the layman, something of the methods and purposes of modern psychiatry.

Dr. Newdigate Owensby, of Atlanta, is chairman of the committee on arrangements and Dr. Roger D. Swint, of Milledgeville, is vice chairman. Other members are Dr. H. D. Allen, of Milledgeville; Dr. Eugene Bondurant, of Mobile, Ala.; Dr. William M. Faulk, of Tusculoosa, Ala.; Dr. Tom Williams, of Miami Beach, Fla.; Dr. C. D. Mitchell, of Meridian, Miss.; Dr. Matthew J. L. Hove, of Raleigh, N. C.; Dr. M. A. Griffin, of Asheville, N. C.; Dr. J. W. Vernon, of Morgantown, N. C.; Dr. C. F. Williams, of Columbia, S. C.; Dr. W. S. Farmer, of Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. R. E. Lee Smith, of Bearden, Tenn.; and Dr. Edwin W. Cooke, of Bolivar, Tennessee.

The Atlanta committee co-operating with the general group is composed of the following:

Judge John D. Humphries, Judge Virgil Moore, Judge L. Z. Rosser, Judge Garland Watkins, Judge Murphy Holloway, Clark Howell, Charles A. Wickham, Preston Arkwright, Dr. Harvey Cox, Dr. M. L. Britton, Dr. Thos. H. Bell, Dr. E. B. McCann, Professor Willis Sutton, Professor J. M. Wells, Philip Alton, H. Woodruff, J. M. Slaton, James M. Brawner, Dr. E. Bates Black, Dr. W. W. Young, Dr. R. Lee Vane, Dr. Rufus T. Horne, Dr. Marion T. Benson, Dr. W. L. Gilbert, Dr. Frank Bond, Dr. Joseph E. Benson, Dr. Pope Hagley, Dr. Glenville Gittings, Dr. Allen H. Buncie, Dr. Leroy W. Childs, Dr. Frank Boland, Dr. Easton Allen, Dr. R. Daley, Dr. W. A. Selman, Dr. Dan X. Dr. Lee Bivins, Dr. Joseph E. Benson, Dr. Stephen Barnett, Dr. Guy Ayer, Dr. T. D. Davison, Dr. H. R. Donaldson, Dr. Lewis Galtier.

The suit alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law in that the defendants divided territory to control outdoor advertising in the United States and Canada. Foster and Kleiser company had the Pacific coast and the General Outdoor Advertising company held the remainder of the country, the government charged.

RETIRED BUSINESS MAN WAS ALL RUN DOWN AFTER FLU

Burns Says Sargon Brought Back His Old-Time Strength and Energy—Like New Man.

"I have always been a strong, healthy man up to a few months ago when I had a bad attack of flu. My whole system became badly run down, I lost my old-time strength and energy."

"I began to suffer with indigestion and biliousness. Everything I ate disagreed with me and I was constantly spitting up undigested food sour as vinegar. I was constipated, had severe headaches and was continually taking laxatives. My tongue was coated and my breath was awful. I would tire easily and my sleep was badly broken. These troubles were new with me."

CHARLES E. BURNS.

"In only a few days after I started taking Sargon and the pills, I began to improve. Four bottles of Sargon and two of pills made me feel like a different man. I have regained my lost weight and am always hungry. What I eat digests. I am no longer bothered with bloating, gas or belching, nor biliousness and headaches. I sleep soundly and have my old-time 'pop' and energy. I feel fine all the time."

"I have never indulged a medicine—but I'm telling all my friends about the Sargon treatment."

The above statement was made by Charles E. Burns, wealthy retired real estate and insurance man of Girard, Kan., a recent Kansas City visitor. Since his wife's death a few years ago, Mr. Burns turned his farm over to his son, sold his other business and is taking life easy. He is a Mason and one of the best known men in that part of the state.

Sales of Sargon continue to set new records everywhere introduced. Hundreds of people are daily visiting Sargon representative at Jacob's main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, to learn more of the powers of this revolutionary new medicine. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacob's drug stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

Damp, Colder Weather Seen For City Today

More clouds and more rain to be followed by another decided temperature drop is the unpleasant weather prospect for Atlanta, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist.

"There is a low pressure area moving northeast from Texas which will cause continued precipitation in this vicinity," the weather man explained.

and this will be followed by a chilly spell due, which will be brought down from the northwest where unusually cold weather prevails."

The temperature range Monday was from 60 up to 75 and today's extremes are expected to be about 55 and 70. Wednesday will see a decided drop. Mr. von Herrmann thinks, though, nothing as low as 42, the low record for the current month, is expected to be reached.

The Washington forecast for the week calls for more showers about Thursday followed by clearing weather the last of the week with a return to seasonal temperatures.

BOY REWARDED FOR SAVING LIFE AT WAYCROSS

Waycross, Ga., May 5.—(Special)—Judge Lee, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lee, of Alma, has received a check for $50 from J. H. Rush, of Washington, D. C. The check is a token of Mr. Rush's appreciation to young Lee for having saved his life. A few days ago Mr. Rush fell out of a boat into the Ocmulgee river near Lumber City. He was seen by young Lee and rescued. It required several hours to resuscitate him but two days later he was able to return to his home.

A four-acre tract at Candler field, on which the Atlanta Aircraft Corporation will erect a plant for the manufacture of airplanes, will be turned to the new company, it was decided in city council Monday. The terms of the lease is for 20 years and the corporation agrees to pay $250 a year for the first three years and to erect the first unit of its plant—a $25,000 structure—at once and to pay $100 a month for the next two years. At the end of the five-year period efforts will be made to set an equitable rental and if company officials and city council are unable to agree the matter will be referred to a board of arbitration. Though company officials sought a site just behind the present line of hangars on the field, members of the aviation committee in council did not specify the site in Monday proposal, holding that they might wish to shift the site because of the need for additional hangar space at the airport.

A STEP FORWARD.

The action of the city council in adopting the McCutcheon resolution for an additional municipal bond issue and referring it to the finance committee for allocations is every way commendable.

To say that Atlanta should stand still now for an indefinite term and suspend until a future season its obvious scheme of municipal improvements is to repudiate the "Atlanta Spirit," which has brought the city to its present greatness, and to stagnate its inducements to greater population and profitable business enterprises. Such a policy would be insufferable to our present progressive citizenship.

The finance committee, headed by Councilman Wiley L. Moore, who is known to the people as a business man of wisdom, experience and trustworthy conservatism, will consider the governing fact that civic improvements are immediately needed. The committee will also consider that a bond issue for the necessary amount and purpose can be floated within the city's legal competency and without adding a dollar of extra taxes upon the people. Hence these able men, so ably captained, may be trusted to approve the bond issue and to allocate the funds derived from it

"where the improvements contemplated from the fund will serve the best interests of the largest number of Atlanta citizens."

The city council of Atlanta legislates for an actual population larger than that of three of the states of the Union, and if the contiguous population is counted, larger than that in any one of five states of the republic. Hence the call upon them to legislate with larger than ward limitations and exercise the foresight and wisdom of serious statesmanship.

The people of Atlanta have a nation-wide reputation for pep and progressiveness. They know that

Atlanta now holds a magnetic pull place in the public eye of the nation and they will back up the council in every rational and forward action to keep the city in the march of municipal progress.

They look with full confidence to the action of Chairman Moore and

Briton Will Give Engraved Panel To Emory Club

Ernest S. Howlett, the Emory Glee Club's visitor from Norwich, England, who came to see again his singing friends here and be present at their annual Atlanta concert Wednesday night at the city auditorium, has taken steps to make his friendship with the "South's Sweetest Singers" permanent by giving them an engraved oak panel in token of his lasting admiration.

Dr. M. H. Howey, director of the Emory singers, states that the panel will be hung in the office of the Glee Club at Emory.

The panel is worded to the Emory University Glee Club, 1928, from E. S. Howlett, Norwich, England, with a verse indicative of his esteem: "Just once in a while we find them."

The folks like you; The loyal, the true and friendly. Just folks like you.

And we wish that the world were peopled With folks like you.

"I thought the word 'folks' peculiarly fitting for you boys of the south," Mr. Howlett told one of the Glee club members.

The English visitor will be one of the most appreciative of the Emory singers' listeners Wednesday night at the auditorium when they give their final concert of the season. Hugh Hodgson, pianist; Miss Minna Hecker, soprano; and Edward Kane, tenor, are assisting the Emory club in their program. Tickets for this concert are now on sale at Cable Piano Company.

"RACE RELATIONS" ESSAY PRIZE WON BY TEXAS WOMAN

The Commission on Interracial Cooperation Monday announced that Evelyn Poindexter Vann, of San Houston State Teachers college, Huntsville, Texas, had won first prize in its annual south-wide contest for papers on "Justice in Race Relations."

The first prize was $100. The second prize of $50 went to Neil Hughes, negro student of Morehouse college in Atlanta.

The commission announced that every state in the south and 43 different institutions were represented.

Favorable comment was made on the high order of many of the papers submitted.

Officials of the interracial commission expressed themselves as well pleased with the result of the contest, the purpose of which was to focus the attention of college students upon the improvement of interracial conditions in the southern states.

It was stated that a similar project probably would be conducted during the next school year.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom banish Piles. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacobs Drug Stores, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—(adv.)

FORD LAUDS RESTORING OF WILLIAMSBURG, VA.

Williamsburg, Va., May 6.—(AP)—Henry Ford thinks the restoration of Williamsburg, colonial capital of Virginia, the greatest project of its kind in America.

"It is wonderful. I don't think there is anything in America to beat it," the automobile manufacturer said on a visit here today. Mr. Ford, accompanied by Mrs. Ford and a small party of friends, spent a large part of the day in viewing the restoration work in the city, which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is doing at an estimated cost of several million dollars. The party also visited Yorktown.

Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, rector of Bruton parish church and local representative for Mr. Rockefeller, entertained the Ford party at a luncheon at the restoration headquarters. Mr. and Mrs. T. Mott Shreve, of the firm of architects, supervising the restoration, were also guests at the luncheon.

Mr. Ford, who has been interested in the preservation of historic American buildings himself, appeared very much interested in the eighteenth century appearance that Williamsburg is now taking on as the restoration progresses. Aside from his brief comment to newspapermen, however, he granted no interviews.

The Ford party arrived here yesterday afternoon, but his presence did not become known to newspapermen until today. The automobile magnate, explaining to the manager of the local hotel that he desired a quiet visit, spread his name on the local register as J. H. Jones, of Washington, changing it to Henry Ford today.

NASHVILLE FIRM LOSES IN FILLING STATION BATTLE

Petition of the Spur Distributing Company, of Nashville, to establish three gasoline filling stations in Atlanta, each to have 15,000-gallon capacity tanks, was denied Monday by vote of council.

Members of the Atlanta board of firemasters filed an adverse report on the petition, citing a provision which prohibits storage of gasoline in quantities exceeding 2,500 gallons in the city limits.

Petitioners wish to establish stations at Marietta and North avenue, Decatur streets, and Whitehall street and Murphy avenue.

"Mussolini's Lunch" British Stage Revue Banned by Censor

London, May 6.—(AP)—Edgar Middleton, denied the right to produce his play, "Mussolini's Lunch," a take-off on the life of the Italian dictator, will publish his work, so that all England may read.

"I never felt so flattered in my life," he said today in comment upon the action of Viscount Cromer, the lord chamberlain and official English play censor, in forbidding its production in England.

He added that he thought the scene quite innocent and harmless, but perhaps the Italian premier's skin was a little thin. It was described as nothing more than purporting to show that even dictators are men to their wives and families. The objectionable scene was but one part of an elaborate revue.

In a letter to the author, who has won considerable renown in English dramatic circles, the lord chamberlain assured him, "The sketch is quite impossible, containing as it does insults to a leading statesman of a foreign country."

LOFTS SCHOOL WORK CONTRACT IS REVOKED

Action Taken by City Council on School Committee Recommendation.

Contract of the Loftis Heating and Plumbing Company on four Atlanta schools was revoked Monday afternoon by action of city council on recommendation of the school committee of city council.

Alderman J. Allen Couch, of the fifth ward, who is chairman of the school committee, presented the paper declaring he was acting on recommendations of G. Lloyd Preacher, architect; members of the administrative staffs of the Atlanta schools, and the board of education.

Complaint was based on alleged non-performance of contracts according to specifications.

Schools affected are the O'Keefe, Brown, Base and Meador (Goldsboro). The contract figure was about $80,000, and all but $29,000 has been paid the contractor. It is estimated that virtually all the remaining sum will be needed to make adjustments so that the installations will be in accordance with specifications.

An attempt by Alderman Ben T. Huist, of the third ward, to send the paper back to the school committee for further consideration failed on a roll call vote of two for reference and 23 against.

RASKOB PLANNING INVESTMENT TRUST, REPORT DECLARES

New York, May 6.—(AP)—The Evening Post says today it has learned that John J. Raskob, democratic leader and former chairman of the finance committee of General Motors Corporation, has been discussing with financiers a new type of corporation combining the features of an investment trust and insurance company for the purpose of helping American workers to accumulate wealth.

It was reported, said the newspaper, that Calvin Coolidge might be asked to join the corporation and that Mr. Raskob would be its president on the political effects of having Mr. Coolidge as chairman of the board.

While primarily an investment trust, the proposed corporation's certificates would be sold to workers under a plan analogous to insurance. Savings invested in this way would represent equities in American industries, and it is believed, would bring a larger return than if invested in fixed-income securities. Such an investment trust was described as a potential safeguard against stock swindling.

JADWIN REPORTS ON HARBOR PLANS IN TEXAS, FLORIDA

Washington, May 6.—(AP)—Major General Jadwin, chief of army engineers, recommended to congress today a modification of the existing project to improve the Houston ship channel in Texas to cost $554,000 with an annual appropriation of $75,000 for maintenance provided local interests furnished rights of way free to the federal government.

Major General Jadwin made an adverse report on the proposed federal improvements to Lake Worth inlet, Florida, because the authorized inland waterway between St. Johns river and Miami and the approved harbor at Miami are expected to provide adequate facilities for commerce.

It was estimated by the district engineer, the report said, that it would cost $100,000 a year to maintain a 16-foot project at Lake Worth inlet, while a 24-foot channel "would cost several million dollars, and the maintenance would probably amount to $150,000 annually."

PLAY this summer

... in a land where Romance and Adventure have always held sway

WHEN America's smartest society picks a watering place, it has the whole world from which to choose. Limits of time and space have been foreshortened—comfort and attractiveness are the prime considerations.

Smart Northern society this winter placed its stamp of approval on Sea Island Beach. Social registers of a score of cities contain the names of the Hotel Cloister guests.

For more than three centuries the names associated with Georgia's Coastal Islands have been the names in the headlines of the nation's history—so it is today. Here, where history was made, the modern history makers find their recreation—playing golf—bathing in the surf—playing tennis—riding horseback—boating on historic waterways—dancing—playing bridge—the never-ending round of social pleasures at this smart Sea Island home colony. Angling for the deep-sea game fish is offered here for the first time on the Georgia coast.

Sea Island Beach is intended primarily for Georgians. It is our ambition that the leaders of Georgia's social and industrial life shall comprise the nucleus around which the club and social activities revolve. Georgians here can be hosts to the visiting multitudes from other parts of the country.

To Georgians all these luxuries are available within a few hours by motor or overnight by Pullman. Never before have Georgians of discrimination been offered such a seashore summer home. And, best of all, for only a small fraction of the cost of a summer vacation in a northern resort which could offer the same profusion of attractions.

During the summer the rates have been reduced for your summer's vacation either in the Hotel Cloister or in one of the charmingly comfortable modern cottages.

Write to the Sea Island Company, Saint Simons Island, Ga., or call upon our Atlanta Representative, 55 Forsyth St. (Healey Bldg.), phone Ivy 1427, for reservations or for a beautifully illustrated pamphlet describing this most attractive of summer resorts.

MARION TALLEY OFFERED GEORGIA FARM FOR HOME

G. A. Weaver, Georgia planter and civic leader of Thomson, has offered a 150-acre farm to Marion Talley, former Metropolitan grand opera star who recently retired from the operatic stage and announced her intention of taking up farming.

The land which Mr. Weaver has offered as a home for the famous singer is four miles from Thomson, on the Appalachian Scenic highway, route three. The farm is said to be suitable for poultry raising, dairying or truck gardening and also contains a peach orchard. Miss Talley is a native of Kansas but the Dixie farm is being proffered in the hope that she may come to the south, a section for which she has repeatedly expressed admiration during her engagements here with the Metropolitan.

Atlanta is to be one of several representative American cities to receive recognition in a new geography textbook, being prepared by a large publishing house, it was learned here Monday when Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, received requests for maps showing Atlanta streets, railroads, parks and suburbs. The City Builder Makes Appearance Under New Editor

The first edition of The City Builder, under the editorship of Dudley Glass was off the press Monday. Mr. Glass recently succeeded Louis D. Newton as editor of the paper, which is the official organ of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Newton resigned to enter the ministry and become pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church.

Mr. Glass' maiden effort on The City Builder has resulted in an attractive magazine, replete throughout with interesting and instructive articles and a wide diversification of art. Particularly interesting and especially timely is an article, "Historic Points of Georgia Highways," by Goodloe Vance, president of the Atlanta Motor Club and Georgia State Auto Association. In it Mr. Vance points out scores of historic and interesting places for motor trips, stressing the fact that the scenery to be viewed on these routes is among the most beautiful in the world.

NEW TECH HIGH WALL URGED BY ENGINEERS

Rebuilding of Crumbling Structure Needed, Chicago Firm Reports.

Complete rebuilding of the crumbling north wall of the Tech High school machine shop is recommended in an official report recently submitted to the city following an extensive investigation conducted by Richard Vose, engineer for the Robert Hunt Company, of Chicago. The report further declares the wall to be safe for the remainder of the current school term but urges reconstruction immediately after the term closes.

As part of the investigation, Mr. Vose had boring tests made to determine the condition of the soil under the wall foundations and found that the soil at no great depth below the foundations is of a swampy and unsubstantial nature. This has caused the settling of the walls and the cracking that now is noticeable. Shoring of the wall to prevent falling of the wall is recommended as a temporary measure but it was urged that only by tearing the present wall down and rebuilding it with reinforced concrete underpinning lessening the pressure per square foot under the walls could safety be insured.

Officials of the board of education Monday night indicated that the matter would receive consideration at an early meeting when the engineer's report is submitted to the board.

BERLIN POLICE RAID RED ORGANIZATIONS

Berlin, May 6.—(AP)—Police raids on communist organizations today succeeded May Day rioting in the now peaceful districts of Neukolln and Wedding, as the authorities began an attempt to suppress powerful groups within the party.

Much documentary material was said to have been seized during the raids. But it is doubtful if this will afford any important information since the communists had learned in advance of the seizure and had time to prepare for it. The Lokal Anzeiger described the raids as "locking the stable door after the horse is stolen." Sympathetic strikes in the metropolis divided today and most of the plants affected were working again with full staffs. This was true of the subway workers, three of whom were among the victims of the rioting. Police action in suppressing the communist militant organizations began in many parts of Prussia, with Bavaria following suit.

From Duisburg it was reported that the police had raided the local headquarters of the "fighters of the red front" and had seized documents.

banners, etc., without resistance. At Magdeburg, the communist newspaper Tribune was suspended for three weeks for inciting the proletariat to arm. Workers in Leipzig were called on to strike Wednesday afternoon at five hour when the Berlin victims are to be buried, by Leipzig communists, who are also arranging for a great communist demonstration on May 19 if a proposed meeting at Hamburg should prove impossible.

Where away this summer? Atlantic City or the Maine woods? Cape Cod or Canada? It doesn't matter. The Cool Green Road leads to everywhere in Vacation Land.

If you are a seasoned traveler we need not describe to you the joys of ocean travel. The lazy, restful hours in your stateroom chair. The gay and informal social life of the sea, where everybody meets everybody else. The deck games, the dances in the open air on the upper deck, the bridge parties, the promenade on deck when a summer moon shines slyly on a summer sea. The salt breezes, cool and pure from leagues of open ocean, that give an edge to jaded appetites and lull you into deep, refreshing sleep. This summer, sail for Vacation Land on a Savannah Liner. You will find the actual "getting there," not the necessary evil it frequently is, but the jolliest part of your entire vacation.

Sail from Savannah any Monday, Wednesday or Saturday on a Savannah Liner. Your stateroom (with hot and cold running water) is as comfortable as your bedroom at home. Courteous, attentive stewards anticipate your every want. The cuisine and service equal the best that a good hotel or club or a palatial trans-Atlantic steamer affords.

You dine and dance to the most unique ship's orchestra to be found on the seven seas—composed of instrumentalists from the musical clubs of leading Southern colleges. And, believe it or not, this Cool Green Road to Vacation Land costs you less than the hot, dusty overland route. You may even have a cabin-de-luxe with twin beds and private bath and still save money. All fares include meals and Stateroom accommodations aboard ship.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON

Atlanta spot cotton closed quiet, 25 points down, at 18.50. New Orleans, 18.50; receipts, 212; stocks, 26,474.

New York, May 6.—(AP)—Cotton was moderately stable around the opening today, but during the greater part of the session prices were on the down grade under renewed selling pressure. This was prompted largely by generally favorable week-end cotton belt weather reports which had dispelled some of the pessimism prevalent at the close last week relative to the progress of the new crop. Houses with New Orleans and western connections, as well as Wall Street, were conspicuous sellers and there was a general absence of buying power. July declined from 18.35 to 18.50 and showed a loss of 37 points from the early high. Covering provided a moderate recovery in the general list closed steady at net declines of 20 to 35 points.

The opening was steady at 2 points higher to 6 points lower compared with the final of Saturday and for a time displayed some stability on moderate buying based on predictions of general showers over the belt with lower temperatures. The weather map, however, was considered favorable with the necessary of rain in the interior of Texas over Sunday. Throughout the day there was a noticeable absence of complaints of crop losses and the necessity of replanting which were largely instrumental in bringing about the upward movement late last week.

The weakness in wheat and in the entire grain list as well as active selling for western account, attracted considerable attention. Houses with New Orleans connections sold freely here, suggesting less uneasiness over the crop situation. An advance in call money to 14 per cent and selling by Wall Street were also factors and the absence of aggressive buying was interpreted as a reflection of a weaker technical position.

At the low point of the day the market was down 33 to 41 points from the final of last week, May reaching 19.30 and December 18.74. The late covering movement carried the market up 4 to 7 points from the lowest and was probably based on the uncertainty over possible weather developments overnight.

Private cables from Liverpool reported an inactive market with some continental buying and local realizing and said that there was a fair cloth industry from India and an improved demand for Egyptian yarns. Port receipts 9,570. United States port stocks, 1,230,000. Exports to 14,228, making 7,833,946 so far this season.

FAVORABLE CROP VIEWS SEND PRICE OFF

New Orleans, May 6.—(AP)—More favorable views of crop progress caused a rise in cotton prices today. Prices advanced 10 to 15 points from the opening, with the market closing 25 points higher than the previous day.

Prices continued to work lower for the remainder of the morning and practically the whole afternoon sessions, reaching the low points of the day in late trading. A reported increase in fertilizer sales during April added to the uneasiness which ultimately carried July to 18.50, October 18.40 and December 18.62, or 33 to 35 points from the previous close. There was some covering at the end and final prices showed recoveries of 3 to 5 points from the lows.

Receipts 9,570 for week 15,427; for year 9,104,122; last year 7,990,305. Exports 4,497; for week 18,305; for year 14,149,122; last year 14,555,454. Stocks on shipboard 85,438; last year 110,460. Spot sales 6,640; last year 6,600.

“What About Call Money?”

SELLING HELD TO MODERATE VOLUME DURING DECLINE

It was reported that the industry is considering a new code of ethics which will tend to eliminate price-cutting and other unethical practices. Atlantic Refining reached a new top at 71. Earnings for the first quarter were reported at $1.17, and those for April alone at $1.24. Standards of New Jersey and California both reached new highs in small gains.

Aviation shares and some of the motor accessory and parts issues made good headway. Sparks Withington jumped more than 8 points to a new top and Timken Roller Bearing reached a new peak at $14. Wright Aero soared about 11 points to 149, a record for the present season, and United Aircraft came back about 8 points.

Electric were both strong, making extreme gains of about 5 points. Youngstown Sheet and Tube made a like gain. International Telephone again attracted powerful support, sending it up 8 points to 172. By-Products Coke touched a new peak above 130.

Electric again trading up on record price on an estimate by the company that its earnings will approximate $1.5 a share this year, and that western interests in the company's holdings of Bendix Aviation, Tobacco stocks failed to respond to talk of higher cigarette prices and ending of the credit-cutting war. Foundation Company improved with the return of the D. Interservice to control.

Some of the high-priced issues broke sharply. American Express tumbled 50 points to 680, and Chase Threshing 10 points. Advance Rumely issues sagged still further, the common stock of the company falling 10 points. Commercial Solvents, which has just had a sharp rise, fell back about 9 points.

Most of the copper shares lost a point. The United States Copper Company broke more than $1 a share on the loss of 2 to 4 points, and United States Steel sagged a point.

Leading commodities were weak, but broke 2 to 3 cents a bushel to new lows for the season on good weather and large Canadian and Argentine offerings for port cotton. Steel broke more than $1 a bale on good weather and a decline at Liverpool.

Foreign exchanges were dull and barely steady. The dollar advanced 1/2 cent at $48.85-86, and the Special Peseta sagged to another new low at 14.15 cents.

The oil stocks as a group were well supported, with further talk of mergers and optimistic earnings estimates.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER, Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, May 6.—(AP)—Just as the resumed bull campaign on the stock market was expected to find fairly clear sailing, it ran into another sort of tight money today. The market headed upward during the morning, but developed increasing heaviness as call money renewed at 10 per cent, and was stepped up to 12 and then to 14 during the afternoon.

Liquidation, however, was held to a moderate volume, trading up on the decline, and total sales fell under 4,000,000 shares. The Associated Press price index indicated that the day's losses were more than canceled Saturday's gains.

The flurry in call money came as a complete surprise to most traders, a credit and generally been expected to improve somewhat this week, with the month-end settlements out of the way. Western interests in the market, indicating that the money market remains hypersensitive.

There appeared no other occasion for the flurry, the market being a settlement of member bank balances at the federal reserve. Some funds were believed to have been withdrawn from the market and such action by the Kansas City Reserve bank's reduction rate from 4-1/2 to 5 per cent, but such withdrawals were un-expected.

There was little in the day's news to influence the market. A few more favorable earnings statements drifted in, but they were generally reported 50 cents a share in the first quarter against 45 cents a year ago. It was estimated that steel trade circles that the U. S. Steel report of unfilled orders as of April 30 will show another gain, despite capacity operations during the month.

The oil stocks as a group were well supported, with further talk of mergers and optimistic earnings estimates.

New York, May 6.—(AP)—Just as the resumed bull campaign on the stock market was expected to find fairly clear sailing, it ran into another sort of tight money today. The market headed upward during the morning, but developed increasing heaviness as call money renewed at 10 per cent, and was stepped up to 12 and then to 14 during the afternoon.

Liquidation, however, was held to a moderate volume, trading up on the decline, and total sales fell under 4,000,000 shares. The Associated Press price index indicated that the day's losses were more than canceled Saturday's gains.

The flurry in call money came as a complete surprise to most traders, a credit and generally been expected to improve somewhat this week, with the month-end settlements out of the way. Western interests in the market, indicating that the money market remains hypersensitive.

There appeared no other occasion for the flurry, the market being a settlement of member bank balances at the federal reserve. Some funds were believed to have been withdrawn from the market and such action by the Kansas City Reserve bank's reduction rate from 4-1/2 to 5 per cent, but such withdrawals were un-expected.

There was little in the day's news to influence the market. A few more favorable earnings statements drifted in, but they were generally reported 50 cents a share in the first quarter against 45 cents a year ago. It was estimated that steel trade circles that the U. S. Steel report of unfilled orders as of April 30 will show another gain, despite capacity operations during the month.

The oil stocks as a group were well supported, with further talk of mergers and optimistic earnings estimates.

SELLING HELD TO MODERATE VOLUME DURING DECLINE

It was reported that the industry is considering a new code of ethics which will tend to eliminate price-cutting and other unethical practices. Atlantic Refining reached a new top at 71. Earnings for the first quarter were reported at $1.17, and those for April alone at $1.24. Standards of New Jersey and California both reached new highs in small gains.

Aviation shares and some of the motor accessory and parts issues made good headway. Sparks Withington jumped more than 8 points to a new top and Timken Roller Bearing reached a new peak at $14. Wright Aero soared about 11 points to 149, a record for the present season, and United Aircraft came back about 8 points.

Electric were both strong, making extreme gains of about 5 points. Youngstown Sheet and Tube made a like gain. International Telephone again attracted powerful support, sending it up 8 points to 172. By-Products Coke touched a new peak above 130.

Electric again trading up on record price on an estimate by the company that its earnings will approximate $1.5 a share this year, and that western interests in the company's holdings of Bendix Aviation, Tobacco stocks failed to respond to talk of higher cigarette prices and ending of the credit-cutting war. Foundation Company improved with the return of the D. Interservice to control.

Some of the high-priced issues broke sharply. American Express tumbled 50 points to 680, and Chase Threshing 10 points. Advance Rumely issues sagged still further, the common stock of the company falling 10 points. Commercial Solvents, which has just had a sharp rise, fell back about 9 points.

Most of the copper shares lost a point. The United States Copper Company broke more than $1 a share on the loss of 2 to 4 points, and United States Steel sagged a point.

Leading commodities were weak, but broke 2 to 3 cents a bushel to new lows for the season on good weather and large Canadian and Argentine offerings for port cotton. Steel broke more than $1 a bale on good weather and a decline at Liverpool.

Foreign exchanges were dull and barely steady. The dollar advanced 1/2 cent at $48.85-86, and the Special Peseta sagged to another new low at 14.15 cents.

The oil stocks as a group were well supported, with further talk of mergers and optimistic earnings estimates.

DAY IN FINANCE

By
R. L. BARNUM

New York, May 6.—With the turn for the better in the repatriation situation and with the stock market strong and active the closing days of last week were an accumulation of buying orders from here and elsewhere throughout the country at the opening of the stock market this morning.

Stocks opened strong and active, ignoring the advance in the Kansas City redoubt rate and rose 8 per cent. Rumor, raised from 6 to 8 per cent around the end of the first hour and looked higher trading in stocks began to slow down. Stocks were sold in the noon hour when call money advanced to 12 and after 1 to 14. Time money was also firmer. So far the expected seasonal easing of money has not materialized.

Since the Bank of England advanced its rediscount rate to 4 per cent on February 7, the rediscount rate has been raised by Holland, Italy, Poland, Austria, Hungary, Germany, Latvia, Lithuania, Finland and Spain. There are 16 countries now where the rediscount rate is 6 per cent or higher. These figures show that money is tight in the world over is now high with the trend upward.

Ford's April production was 190,000, using only 190,000. Last April Ford was only just beginning to start up again in turning out his new model.

Fenner & Beane Survey. Fenner & Beane, one of the large Wall Street stock exchange houses, has just completed a survey of the automobile situation based on reports received from 55 cities. The results show that while automobile production continues high, the tendency is for cars to accumulate in dealers hands. Demand it is reported is spotty, because of high money and recent losses by the public in the stock market. Automobile manufacturers are reporting large earnings. It is stated, but dealers buying cars from manufacturers are being confronted with distribution problems difficult to solve in the situation at the production end.

Columbia Graphophone was active and strong on the earnings statement and also on the arrival here from London of Chairman Marks, who admitted that merger negotiations with Radio had been under discussion for some time. For the year ending with February 28, Columbia reported a surplus of $751,000 against $700,000 for 1927, $270,000 for 1927 and a deficit for 1928 of $875,000.

Woolworth's April sales were $22,000,000, up $124,000 or 0.5 per cent against an increase of 4.6 per cent for the four months. The management said that Easter falling in March this year or earlier than last year was responsible for this year's comparatively small April earnings.

Bitter Sentiment. While speculative Wall Street is trying to keep its temper and good manners in discussing the existing money situation, a round-up of the financial district will show that under the surface there is much bitter feeling against the Federal Reserve.

In advancing its rediscount rate today, using only 190,000, the Federal Reserve bank says that it is merely conforming to the 5 per cent rate of all 12 reserve banks. The exception of the Federal Reserve bank of New York, which is at 4 1/2 per cent, Wall Street, however, believes that the action of the Kansas City bank has more significance. Wall Street believes that today's advance in Kansas City was forced by the fact that the exception of the Federal Reserve bank of New York, which is at 4 1/2 per cent, Wall Street, however, believes that the action of the Kansas City bank has more significance. FULENWIERS SCORE HIT
In Thrilling "Front Page"

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Intensely exciting from first to last, the forceful melodrama, "The Front Page," was offered for the first time in Atlanta at the Atlanta theater Monday night by the Fulenwiders players and it scored one of the biggest successes won by a play in Atlanta in recent years.

"The Front Page" is a high-powered story of newspaper work but it is as well written and as convincingly constructed that it carries an appeal to all classes of people. Ben Hecht and Charles McArthur are responsible for the drama and they have successfully built up a wonderful play. It is a play that has everything and is so good it would please in the hands of any kind of a player. The Fulenwiders players, however, gave a remarkably smooth performance and there is not a single glaring flaw about their work.

There is but one scene, the press room of the criminal court building in Chicago, and all the action takes place in this spot. The reporters of the Chicago newspapers are shown at their work. They are awaiting the time to arrive for the sheriff to execute a criminal who has been sentenced to the electric chair. The play is a masterpiece of smooth performance and there is not a single glaring flaw about their work.

Mostly Pure Melodrama. This is a pure melodrama, a star reporter who is the central figure but for the most part the evening is one of pure melodrama. The play is certainly a masterpiece of smooth performance and there is not a single glaring flaw about their work.

Harold Shubert, new leading man, plays the part of the star reporter who is the central figure but for the most part the evening is one of pure melodrama. The play is certainly a masterpiece of smooth performance and there is not a single glaring flaw about their work.

COMEDIANS STAR
ON STRONG CARD
AT KEITH'S GEORGIA

A slap whose stage face automatically qualifies him as a fit subject for the nearest psychopathic ward, with the aid of a slightly more intelligent looking partner, provides the best thing to see at Keith's this week. The tag on the act is Wilton and Weber and the hopeless lad's stage sobriquet is "Mr. America."

These fellows have a broad burlesque on the hackneyed "Sonny Boy" that is given to the audience with a comedy. A take-off on a talking picture is also good for a number of giggles but a guessing game is the best thing to see at Keith's this week.

Next in line on the boards is Jerry and Her Baby Grands. A rather novel turn made worthwhile by the fact that the two comedians are really rather than by any exceptional skill on the part of any of the four women who man the show.

OUR CLUB — By Seckatary Hawkins

YESTERDAY WHEN WE CAUGHT THE PELHAMS TRYING TO PUSH OUR HOUSEBOAT INTO THE RIVER AND THE RED HEAD RAISED HIS STICK TO HIT THE SKINNY GUY OVER THE HEAD, I THOUGHT IT WAS ALL OVER WITH LINK, BUT IT WASN'T.

QUICK AS A WINK, THE SKINNY GUY GRABBED THE RED HEAD BY THE ARM, AND TURNED AROUND AND STOOPEL!—GOLLY! HE FLUNG THE RED HEAD OVER HIS SHOULDER. GEE WHIZ! THAT SKINNY KID KNOWS A FEW TRICKS OF HIS OWN.

THE RED HEAD FELL, BUT HE GOT RIGHT UP AND WENT FOR LINK AGAIN. HE HAD PICKED UP A STONE, AND STARTED TO HIT LINK ON THE HEAD WITH IT, BUT LINK WAS TOO QUICK FOR HIM AND WHAM!—RIGHT ON THE CHIN!

GO HOME, LINK! THE MEETING FOR TODAY IS OVER! WHERE AM I? WHAT HIT ME? WHAT HAPPENED?

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

MRS. WOOD DUCK IS A BUSY MOTHER.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

What to do and where to go. Somehow mothers always know. —Old Mother Nature.

It certainly was a queer sight that Peter Rabbit saw. When he got home to the dear Old Briar-patch he told Mrs. Peter that it was the queerest sight he had ever seen or ever expected to see. Probably he will say the same thing the next queer sight he sees. But it was queer, there's no denying that.

Peter was in his favorite place under a certain little hemlock tree, where he was quite hidden himself, but could watch the home of the Wood Ducks. This was, as you know, a hole high up in the dead tree. Peter at the time was half asleep. It was early in the morning and Peter had been out and about most of the night. He awoke fully, however, when he saw Mrs. Wood Duck poke her head out of that hole and look sharply this way and that. Then her head was withdrawn. Peter had just started to yawn when that head reappeared, and this time there was something in the bill.

"Gracious," exclaimed Peter under his breath, and his eyes were very wide open indeed. What do you think was in that bill? A Duckling? Yes, sir, Mrs. Wood Duck was holding one of her babies in her bill. In a twinkling she was out of that hole and away she shot straight off toward the pond of Paddy the Beaver. "Did I see that or did I dream it? I wonder if she'll take any more that way."

Peter didn't wonder very long. In a surprisingly short time Mrs. Wood Duck was back and had disappeared in that hole way up in the dead tree. She was working fast, was Mrs. Wood Duck, for it seemed to Peter that hardly had her tail disappeared in the hole when her head appeared coming out and in her bill was another Duckling. Away she whirled on stout wings and again disappeared in the direction of the pond of Paddy the Beaver.

"Oh dear!" exclaimed Peter. "I wish there were two of me. I mean, I wish I could be in two places at the same time. I wish I could be here and there. But if I'm here I can't be there and if I'm there I can't be here. If I could run as fast as Mrs. Wood Duck can fly, I might be able to do it. I want to see her take all of those babies out of that hole, but I want to see her hide them all at the pond of Paddy the Beaver and I can't do it. Oh dear, I wish I were two instead of one!"

Peter was quite undecided whether to remain where he was or to be satisfied with what he had seen there and go over to the pond and see where Mrs. Wood Duck was leaving her babies. He was still thinking about it, still undecided, when again Mrs. Wood Duck took a baby in her bill and flew away with it.

"If I go over there I may not be able to find them," thought Peter, "and I'll miss out both ways. I guess I'll stay right here and see her carry the last one. Then I'll go over there to Paddy's pond. I'll probably have more chance of finding them."

This was very sensible of Peter. He tried to keep count as Mrs. Wood Duck came and went, but it wasn't long before he was all mixed up. "I won't know when she gets the last one," said he forlornly. "Hello! She isn't taking this one in her bill. It must be she isn't taking any this time. I wonder if it can be that she has them all over to the water and has just come back to make sure."

Mrs. Wood Duck left the tree with her usual swift flight. And then Peter saw something that made him rejoice that he had stayed right where he

Tech Hi Orchestra To Sponsor Dance.

The Tech Hi orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Bracewell, assisted by the Tech Hi P.T.A., will sponsor a script dance in the ballroom of the Henry Grady hotel Thursday evening May 9, from 9 to 12 o'clock. Admission per couple is 75 cents. The chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Macnamara, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. N. Everett and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Cleveland. Mrs. Wilbur L. Humcutt and Mrs. C. A. Virgin are in charge of refreshments.

It was a Duckling peeping out of the hole Mrs. Wood Duck had just left. A few moments later Mrs. Wood Duck was back. This time she didn't enter the hole, but clung to the edge of it, and that Duckling scrambled right up on her back. And away she went! And Peter knew then that she must have carried one in the same way on her previous trip, for he had seen none in her bill.

RICH WITH JOYOUS FLAVOR

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

STORY BY
Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers in Harley street, is created by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Joy, occupied with her own trouble, she fails to notice that Dr. Travers was troubled too. Toward the end of the day he tells Joy that he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street. Dr. Locke, who shares the office, tells Rex that he has just been offered a practice and a comfortable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on. He suggests that the plan is that they want a married doctor and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry and take up the new post Rex is turned a deaf ear. Joy who has been listening to the doctors' for long, suddenly sees a method of escape for her, and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she is really in need of a job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey read of her engagement to another man.

INSTALLMENT VIII. ON THE ROCKS.

Joy held her breath, but the sentence ended unexpectedly. "I'll do all I can to help you to another post at once; if possible, a better post."

As if that were any good! thought the girl in anguish. Sedately, doubtfully, she said, "Thank you, Dr. Travers, but I don't want to get. So many applicants."

"I'll see you through," he promised. Those words in that tone had been heard by more than one hard-up patient whom Doctor Travers had rescued, attended, healed, all without taking a penny fee. His face cleared. He saw the way out.

"Look here, Miss Harrison. Until we do hit on a decent secretarial post for you I have thought of a plan. She waited, holding her breath. "My mother, who lives down in Surrey, and who is a widow, has been looking out for some young lady who could go about with her, help her in the garden, act as her companion. I think that might be a workable scheme, and—well, I would introduce you."

Blankness fell upon Joy. She smiled politely. "That's very kind of you, Doctor Travers. But—"

"But, O heavens above! The idea is not for Mrs. Ford to ask 'What became of the girl Joy?' And for her to be told, 'She went away as a companion to some old lady in the country.'"

"O, no, no! . . . What I want is to show the Fords that I have not another lover, not merely, humiliating, another job. I want it all clear and blatant in the Morning Post."

The engagement is announced and the marriage will shortly take place of Dr. Rex Travers, of 33-A Harley street, and Miss Muriel Joy Harrison, daughter of the late Lieutenant Eric Harrison, R. N., of Combe Martin, Devonshire.

Again, lightning swift, Joy whisked herself mentally forward and to Reedy cottage on the morning of the Fords read that. She saw the dainty breakfast table, the silver, and across coffee things and Morning Post, the two dark oval faces staring at each other.

"Geoffrey, have you seen this? Good God! Impossible! She's engaged to somebody else already?" Then his mother's indignant, "I wonder if that girl was in love with this doctor person all the time? Deceiving you, Geoffrey?" Childishly, vehemently, Joy hoped that this was what they would imagine, and that it would be no small shock. First, of course, it had to happen. The "white" engagement. Not, a million times not, the companion job!

"It is very kind of you to think of recommending me to your mother, Doctor Travers. But—the small pale face, the great eyes, the mild voice were all decided—"I am afraid I should be no good for that kind of work. I think it would have to be the other or nothing."

There! Now he knew. Two ghastly having to argue. It must be. Must! She set upon her aim every atom of her will. What factor she could introduce to make this man see it must be?

"The other?" He was putting his hand into his breast pocket to hunt for his mother's last letter. He stopped. Again he looked at this incredible girl. She leaned forward. She clenched ringless hands on the table. She spoke rapidly, softly, but still impersonally, as if she were pleading this cause entirely from the common-sense point of view.

"Dr. Travers, don't you think it would be better if you married me in the way Dr. Locke said and then took me out with you when you took up that practice on the Riviera?"

He frowned quickly.

He was sorry for this girl (unhappily as she was). Sorry for any girl on her own, up against poverty. Not an easy world for women; but was it an easy world for men? Was it, briefly, an easy world? He had thought out what he considered an excellent way of making it easier for this little Miss Harrison. She turned that down? Well, dash it, philanthropy could not run to the crazy lengths that she suggested. In any case—

"I have no intention of putting in for that Riviera practice; nor of getting married to anybody."

"I see that," she spoke reasonably; almost brightly. No one would have thought that finger nails were deep into each of her soft palms. "But this would not be like getting married. I should give no trouble; you wouldn't have to give a thought to your wife—"

His dry smile admitted that this certainly sounded unlike getting married, but—

Still, as if with sweet reasonableness, the sedate girl's voice enlarged. "That would make it so suitable. You see, I agree with you about marriage. Dr. Travers, I too, regard it as a trap." "There," she thought, with a wildly beating heart, "that ought to get him to agree."

"But this would not be like getting married. I should give no trouble; you wouldn't have to give a thought to your wife—"

His dry smile admitted that this certainly sounded unlike getting married, but—

Without a break in those common-sense tones the little head seemed to shudder. "Since it means 2,000 pounds a year at least for you, and a settled job for me that I know I can do! Since, otherwise, we should both be on the rocks! Since those patients would be perfectly satisfied to know there was Mrs. Travers in the house, and since, as far as we were concerned, there would be none of this—"

she cleared her throat—"this wife business. Since it would mean nothing but advantage, won't you—won't you consider it, Dr. Travers?"

"No. I am sorry." He had been waiting for this little lunatic to run down. He had been secretly cursing that mountebank Lock for having introduced this idea; the ingenious worse yet, little fool who swallowed it! Some men might suspect her of more than one shady motive for her reckless proposal—an adventure? Amateur blackmail? Need of a man's name? Dr. Rex Travers, well used to reading and grading women, was a better judge of feminine machinery. This piece he found delicate, overstrained, but unfavourable. She was an innocent creature. She was what the Miss Simps of the world would prize as a "nice."

"As I told you, Miss Harrison, I will do anything in my power to help you; but what you suggest is out of the question, not to be thought of, and preposterous."

With the last word there came, abruptly, into his head the gag of the warty voiced, colored comedian, "You can't do that!"

Yet, within half an hour, Rex Travers had done it.

He had agreed to the grotesque arrangement. He was engaged to marry—in name only—this Miss Harrison. Yes, all this within half an hour of his last definite "Preposterous!"

"Preposterous? What is?" demanded young, clear voice.

The consulting room door had opened to admit—some one who had been for the moment forgotten.

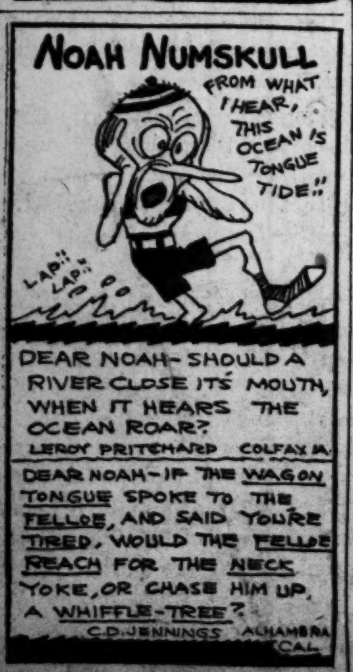

Enter an engineer, a man of the world, an imp of the gutter, a lover of poetry, and an innocent child! Not, by the way, that you saw entering the secretary's room all these four characters at once. AGENTS ENCOURAGED BY U. S. GOLF PLAY

BELIEVES 16 FROM AMERICA WILL QUALIFY

Horton Smith Creates Furore—T. C. Jewell, Englishman, Leads.

By Walter Hagen, British Open Golf Champion.

(Written Exclusively for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Gullane, Scotland, May 6.—Horton Smith, the young American sensation, created the greatest furore at Gullane today when he peddled a bicycle from the Marine hotel to the course for the first qualifying round of the British open championship. This and a rain which started at 11 o'clock this morning and continued until nightfall caused more talk than any of the golf displayed. More even than F. C. Jewell's 72 which led the field in the first round.

All the Americans who were supposed to play well enough to qualify seem to have withstood the weather and scored sufficiently low to get in if no bad luck is encountered Tuesday. Ed Dudley, with an 85 at Muirfield, is the worst off of the bunch, but as all scores ran high and as the first one hundred and ties will qualify I am expecting Ed to pick up on the next eighteen and get there. In fact I am looking for a perfect qualifying score from the American Ryder cup team.

SCOTCH MIST.

Conditions for play were what might be called Scotch mist. The sky was very grey early in the morning, with rain threatening at any minute. At 11 o'clock the threat came true and from that time on rain fell heavily for the most part and many of us had to play through it. The early starters had little the better of it on this account. Included in these early birds were George Von Elm, the Los Angeles amateur, and Bobby Cruickshank from the Progress Club, New York, who each did good 73's.

In all my experience in eight British open I have never seen a worse day. Here they call it "rotten" weather but I do not think that quite describes it. Even so, I think the boys played as well as any and this is encouraging, for there are certainly no signs of clearing weather in sight.

A few days ago we could look from Gullane and the Muirfield dunes far out over the firth of forth. Today a dense fog and mist hung in the air over the firth and rain made it murkier and worse.

FARRELL'S BREAK.

Johnny Farrell had a good round until he reached the seventeenth. Here he hit his second shot into a cross bunker guarding the greens and could not find the ball. He had to go back and play another ball, which he proceeded to hook and finally had to be content with a 9 to hole out. Yet he finished with an 82, which is good enough for a golfer of his class to be assured of qualifying. He should be glad his bad luck came when it counts for nothing and not in one of the real rounds that make up a tournament.

We will all start fresh Wednesday morning, with the men having the lowest qualifying score no better off than the man with the highest.

Residing his bicycle, Horton Smith hit many tremendous tee shots. At the long fifteenth he was reported closer to the green with a drive than any of the other boys were getting. That's where the pigeon rates in speed and distance with other speed merchants.

WHAT A BREAK!

The name of the dignified matron is withheld, but—The day of the monthly meeting of the Book Study Club she suddenly realized she had no earthly idea what book of an educational uplifting nature she would suggest to the members for study during the ensuing month. She was expected to have read one and offer it for serious analysis.

16 WILL QUALIFY.

Of the 20 Americans of all sorts who started I think 16 will qualify. This will give them a strong representation in the championship. Outstanding scorers included at the top, the veteran, F. H. Taylor, son of J. H. Taylor and registered from Oxford university, did 80, Honorable W. G. Brownlow, who nearly topped Jesse Sweetser here in the amateur championship of 1928, required 88. Archie Compston did 75. Ramnath Boodham Bamatha, a colored player from Durban, attracted more attention when he started than when he finished with an 87. I got away to a late start, leaving the first tee at Gullane after 3 o'clock and when the sun was going full force. I got off well with three 8's and a 36 and back in 39 for a 85 and feel confident of qualifying. I am told that after starting the natives by riding a bicycle to Muirfield, Horton Smith, on the course

Jewell's Card At Muirfield

Muirfield, Scotland, May 6.—(United News.)—The card of F. C. Jewell, long Ashton professional who led the first day's qualifiers in the British open, follows: In 454 443 443—25. Out 554 545 453—37—73.

Ed Danforth

No Atlanta athletes have shown such improvement within a year as homing pigeons. The flying speed merchants have slashed their old records into bits since the spring season opened.

A bundle of humming feathers from the Dixie Loft covered a 213-mile course recently at the rate of 1,523 yards per minute. That's about 52 miles an hour.

It was only last year that a winged Charley Paddock from Bill Stoddard's loft twice lowered a six-year record. He flew 1,246 yards a minute on a 300-mile course and the very next week lowered his own mark by zooming along at 1,330 yards per minute over the same route. That was flying at 45.3 miles per hour.

And when Stoddard's bird clicked off 45.3, pigeon breeders marvelled and said it would stand for a long time.

FOLKS LAG BEHIND.

This bird from the Dixie Lofts, then, in clocking up 52 miles an hour improved the Atlanta record for long distances 14.5 per cent.

Imagine other southern athletes improving their performances in like proportion.

Herdie McCrary could step the 100-yard dash in 8.5 seconds with 14.5 per cent improvement over his last performance.

Ed Hamm could broad jump 29 feet 8.1 inches.

Anderson, the Georgia javelin star, could throw the spear 221 feet 9 inches.

And Bob Jones could play East Lake in 27-27-54.

THE PIGEON MEN.

Atlanta has a colony of the hottest pigeoners in these United States. They take their sport seriously as all good sportsmen should.

Why, Jack Ryan has never been the same since Bill Stoddard's bird broke the 6-year record held by one of his pets. When Jack's pigeon flew 1,231 yards per minute in 1922, it was considered a whale of a performance.

Since then Jack has been wandering around with a hurt look in his eyes and deep lines etched around the corners of his mouth. He feels better since the Dixie Loft pushed the Stoddard bird into the background.

COMPARISONS

The mark of 52 miles an hour for 213 miles compares favorably with a 50-mile an hour average for 500 miles that stands as the goal of every pigeon raiser. The world's record for all distances is held by Bullet, a pigeon belonging to the Anderson Lofts of Ft. Wayne, Ind. Bullet did 1,000 miles in 24 hours, 6 minutes and 30 seconds.

A man runs the 100-yard dash at a little better than 20 miles an hour.

A whippet runs at about 44 miles an hour.

A greyhound, such as run at Dixie Lakes (court permitting) does 45 miles an hour.

A thoroughbred horse runs at about 50 miles an hour.

These times are all for short distances. Your pigeon keeps up a 50-mile an hour clip for hours on end. That's where the pigeon rates in speed and distance with other speed merchants.

WHAT A BREAK!

The name of the dignified matron is withheld, but—The day of the monthly meeting of the Book Study Club she suddenly realized she had no earthly idea what book of an educational uplifting nature she would suggest to the members for study during the ensuing month. She was expected to have read one and offer it for serious analysis.

She asked her daughter.

"Why don't you suggest 'The Cradle of the Deep' by Joan Lowell," was daughter's suggestion.

So the dignified matron proceeded to spring that one on the Book Study Club. And the Book Study Club proceeded to gasp and splutter and twitter hysterically.

"Why surely you did not read 'The Cradle of the Deep'?" apparently they all had read it. And not having read it, the dignified matron was absolutely out on a limb.

Grey Sox Lose To Florida Team

After battling through 12 furious innings to a 3-3 tie, the Sunshine Babies, of St. Petersburg, put in a four-run rally in the 13th while holding the Atlanta Grey Sox to a lone tally to take the contest at Spiller field at 7-4 yesterday afternoon.

The game was well-played throughout and it was only a fine bunching of hits by the St. Pete team which gave them the edge. The Grey Sox made a valiant effort in their half but were unable to come close.

The two teams will meet again this afternoon at Spiller's at 3 o'clock. Ladies will be admitted free.

THEY'RE TUNING UP AT INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY

Bob McDonogh, the young man on the box, is resting up after one of those terrific trial spins at Indianapolis, where the annual 500-mile speed races will be held May 30. McDonogh, known as the "Frisco Flash," is one of the most daring of the modern school. In No. 23 is Tony Gulotta, young Italian star, in the new creation he hopes to pilot to victory. Gulotta was leading near the finish last year when his gas tank broke and forced him out.

MISS MADDOX PLACES THIRD

Ann Kennedy Wins Medal Honors in Women's Golf Tourney.

New Orleans, May 6.—(AP)—A tanned young woman of Oklahoma, Miss Corlette Ann Kennedy, stroked her way through a swart wind storm to capture medal honors in the first round of the southern women's golf tournament, played over the picturesque Metairie course.

With the players battling a strong head wind, cutting most of their drives almost in half distance, Miss Kennedy marched in with a score of 42-45-57, six above women's par and one stroke below Mrs. David Gaut, of Memphis, three times Dixie champion.

Only the enthusiastic Miss Kennedy and the veteran Mrs. Gaut were able to break 90 although 84 players started.

Miss Kennedy's Card:

Out 654 455 445—42

Mr. Kennedy's Card:

Out 654 565 365—45—87

Out 554 564 474—44

Out 754 555 454—44—88

Miss Kennedy's impressive showing in the face of the high winds and the fact that she had not been considered in pre-tournament guesses left her with many followers for the beginning of match play tomorrow.

Her putting was especially good over the undulating greens and she

TECH GOLFERS SET FOR FIGHT

With the southern conference golf tournament slated to start Wednesday, Georgia Tech's entrants, headed by Captain Shag Irvin, left Atlanta yesterday afternoon in order to get a day's practice over the Billmore forest course at Asheville, the battle ground for the tourney.

Irvin, Brumby, Leach and Scott Hudson, Jr., composed the jacket in the lineup for the start.

This season has been fairly creditable as they have won five matches in eight starts, and they hope to make a name for the rest of the field in the melee.

The losses have been to Alabama, Florida and Georgia, and have all been on trips which involved playing over strange courses. The Tech team was deemed to be strong enough to warrant an extra day which will aid them in their play as they will have had a chance to go around the course and limber up after the trip.

Bulldogs Arrive For Tourney

The University of Georgia's championship golf team arrived here today to defend its team and singles championships in the southern intercollegiate golf tournament which gets under way at the Billmore Forest Country Club Wednesday.

Captain Murray Soule brought four men here for the meet. They are Johnny Oliver, singles champion; Harvey Hill, who reached the semifinals last year, and Bill Legwen and Tom Brantley, two newcomers.

While Oliver is favored to retain the title in the singles play, he is expected to be hard pressed by golfers from Duke university, Florida and Sewanee.

Darlington B.H.S. Match Is Halted

With Boys' High leading three matches to two, the tennis meet between Darlington High, of Rome, Ga., and the Purple netmen was halted by darkness. The matches were played on the Carder park courts, the Piedmont park courts being too wet.

A return match between the two schools will be played in Rome in the near future.

Indianapolis Races Offer Big Spectacle

World's Speed Classic Outdoes Kentucky Derby as Drawing Card for Sport Fans.

By Ralph McGill.

America's two great sport spectacles are offered annually in May—the Kentucky Derby on the third Saturday and the 500-mile automobile races at Indianapolis on May 30.

They are the greatest, interest in them drawing the greatest sports crowds of any event offered from year to year. Interest never flags.

Louisville and the Kentucky derby draw 80,000 to see the fifth race on the card offered on that third Saturday.

The horsemen laugh at them—automobiles running around and around a track—yet there is a human element in the automobile races that fascinates the one which packs the hotels and the one which packs the hotels and the one which packs the hotels.

Yet the 500-mile races draw 150,000 and more each year on May 30—a great, roaring mass of humanity that sits for a little more than four hours as the bright little cars scud by on the wings of the high test gas.

EMORY WINNER OVER PANTHERS

Trackmen Take 12 First Places To Win Annual Meet.

By Ralph McGill.

Taking 12 of the 15 first places and half of the second places, the Emory track team closed its season yesterday by swamping the Panthers of Birmingham-Southern, 86-48.

The Emory victory was all the more remarkable because it was won without a single loss in the four events.

From the time Vogel and Jalarik took first and second in the hundred until Roberts brought home the baton in the relay, the result was never in doubt. Only in the high and low hurdles and the discus throw were the visitors able to break the Emory monopoly on first places.

In the discus and high hurdles, trying for second in the pole vault, taking second in the broad jump, and third in the high jump for a total of 13 points.

Allen Logan, Emory's high point man, deserted the medical lab long enough to win the shot put in his civilian clothes. He later got out in time to win the broad jump with a leap of 21 feet 4 inches. This gave him 10 points and a tie for second honors. Bob Vogel made 10 when he won in both the hundred and the twenty-yard events.

No records were endangered due to the soggy track.

100-Yard Dash—Won by Vogel (Emory); Jalarik (Emory), second; Lett (B. S.), third. Time, 10.4 seconds.

Shot Put—Won by Logan (Emory); Black (B. S.), second; Mann (B. S.), third. Distance, 40 feet 13 inches.

High Jump—Won by Ogle (B. S.), third. Height, 5 feet 10 inches.

Half-Mile Run—Won by Roberts (Emory); Hendrix (Emory), second; Ogle (B. S.), third. Time, 2 minutes 9 seconds.

Brute Force—Won by Logan (Emory); Ogle (B. S.), second; Stanton (B. S.), third. Time, 21 feet 4 inches.

One-Mile Relay—Won by Emory (Emory); Jalarik, Kasey, Roberts, Time, 3 minutes 42 seconds.

Atlanta's Homing Pigeon Club's third race on the 300-mile airline from Gainesville, Fla., to Atlanta, was again won by W. J. Stoddard. He won first and second places. Stoddard, second, 1019.15
Cole, third, 1006.702
Evan, fourth, 1007.251

'Big Train' Ill Again; Sent to Washington

Cleveland, May 6.—(AP)—Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington, American league baseball team, tonight was put aboard a train for Washington, where he will be taken to Emergency hospital for treatment.

The "Big Train," one of the pitching idols of baseball for 20 years, was taken into the Union station in a wheeled chair, but was able to pull himself on the train with the assistance of friends. He was accompanied by Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington club.

Johnson, who last spring was kept under the care of physicians for three months by influenza, apparently was in good health when the Senators arrived here last Friday for a series with the Cleveland Indians but Saturday caught a cold which affected his kidneys.

Dr. M. H. Castle, physician to the Cleveland club, had decided that Johnson was too ill to be removed from his hotel here this morning, but considered it best to return him to his home city after a telephone conversation with Dr. Harry Kaufman, of Washington, who treated Johnson last year.

The NEW
Firestone
Supreme Balloon
Scientifically designed for fast cars • 4 wheel brakes • easy steering • quick pickup.

THE New Firestone Supreme Balloon puts tire construction far ahead of modern driving conditions. It is bigger, stronger, more rugged and better looking than any tire that has ever been made. The cotton fibers in the cords are twisted for greatest strength and elasticity, and then gum-dipped for greatest endurance and mileage. The thicker tread provides a non-skid efficiency and a wearing resistance hitherto unknown. It is truly the TIRE SUPREME—the greatest tire of all time. Here is a tire that is "made to order" for exacting motorists, and also for those who are anticipating long trips, where the utmost dependability and uninterrupted service is essential. We cannot begin to explain all of the outstanding qualities of this wonderful engineering achievement, and ask that you drive to our service station and let us show you the greatest tire value that has ever been developed—Liberal allowance made for your old tires. Record-Breaking Field of 23 Seen for Kentucky Turf Classic

Bradley Cites Rules Favorite at Downs

Race Considered Open, However, With Other Candidates Showing Superb Form.

Louisville, Ky., May 6.—(AP)—With the running of the fifty-fifth Kentucky Derby less than two weeks away, a record-breaking field of 23, it was indicated today, will face the barrier in the turf classic. While the race is considered open, Blue Larkspur, entry of Colonel E. R. Bradley, still rules favorite with the bettors and may go to the post on May 18 as heavy a choice as was Regal Count last year. The Bradley colt, it is said, is in as fit condition as it is possible to be for the supreme test of speed and endurance.

A number of other thoroughbreds are said to be just as fit and ready to run, however, and still retain the confidence of their owners and admirers. Clyde Van Dusen is one of these and in recent trials has shown both speed and stamina. Ervast, another Derby choice, has just arrived at the Downs. That this western gelding can run was evidenced by his last trial, in which the clockers caught him at one mile in 1:36 2-5 and the mile and an eighth in 1:49 4-5.

Besides Blue Larkspur, Clyde Van Dusen and Ervast, the probable Derby field was announced by the Times to-day as follows:

Bay Beauty, Naishapur, Karl Eitel, Dr. Freeland, Essare, Plumbeo, Double Heart, Prince Pat, Twink, Windy City, Voltar, Bargello, Beacon Hill, Minotaur, The Choctaw, The Nut, Lord Bradalbane, Paraphrase, Calwick and Bonohy.

Naishapur, like Ervast, a California-owned colt, will be favored strongly because of his triumph in the Tijuana Derby, while Ervast won eight races in a row before training off. Double Heart and Prince Pat, trained down on the Waggoner ranch, at Arlington, Texas, also are said to be in sparkling form.

Windy City and Voltar, recently bought by Charles Fisher and Rear Admiral Carey Grayson, and Karl Eitel are being looked upon by many turfmen as real "dark horses."

Panther Tennis Stars Win, 4-2

Birmingham-Southern's tennis team partly atoned for the defeat of its track team yesterday by winning the Emory men's tennis matches to two. After splitting the four singles matches the Panther team came back to sweep both doubles matches for the margin of victory.

The feature match of the day was between Graves Smith, Emory's number two man, and C. L. Green, Birmingham junior champion. Smith slugged his way to win the first set, a long drawn out affair, 12-10. Green rallied then to make short work of the second set, 6-3. Smith then returned to his form and took the set and match, 6-3.

McDaniel, of Emory, in the meantime had an easy time taking his match from Reiman in straight sets, 6-0, 6-3. Charlie Rainey ran into trouble in the form of Barcliff's hard chop which refused to bounce on the soft court. Barcliff won, 6-3, 6-0. Jack Rennie lost a somewhat closer match to Miller, 6-3, 8-6.

In the doubles matches, lack of co-operation between the members of the Emory teams spelled their downfall. After taking the first set, 6-2, Rainey and Rennie were unable to get together and went down before Barcliff and Green, 6-2, 6-2. Smith and McDaniel dropped the first set, 6-4, to Miller and Reiman, but gave Emory hopes of a temporary revival by tying the match, taking the second set, 6-3. The joy was short-lived, however, when the Birmingham-Southern lads took the last set easily, 6-1.

There is no new rule in the American league. It is just a strict enforcement of the old rule, according to President Barnard.

Is the Price of Nails Going Down?

Gosh no! Every time you open a keg these days it costs real money. Looks more hopeless every day. But there's one thing certain—no man can kick about the price of Hage and Hage. A dozen bottles, conveniently packed in a carton, costs only 60c. And man, what an ale! Ripe, sparkling and snappy—bottled for the fellow who could pay a quarter. . . . Jack and Tom May Battle

New York, May 6.—(United News.) A bout between Jack Sharkey, of Boston, and Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion, is the latest idea of Humphrey J. Fugazy, partner of Jack Dempsey in fight promotion.

Fugazy today announced the receipt of a telegram from Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, asking his best terms for a Sharkey-Loughran bout. Fugazy phoned Joe Smith, manager of Loughran, and said Smith would be in New York Thursday to discuss terms.

Meantime Fugazy declared he had not given up hope of signing Loughran and James J. Braddock for a little scrap although reports here indicate that Madison Square Garden has the bout pretty well under control.

AUBURN NEXT JACKET FOE

Two Rivals Will Battle in Track Meet Next Saturday.

Coach Hal Barron's Yellow Jacket track squad is slated to have a go at the Tigers of Auburn this Saturday at Auburn.

The Jackets have been going poorly this season, the loss of Ed Hamm having been a severe one. In the meet with Georgia's Bulldogs last Saturday at the Flats the Jackets were completely outclassed by the powerful Georgia crew, which won at 77 1-2 to 48 1-2.

Auburn, always represented by a strong aggregation, has not fallen short of this mark this season. The Tiger colors flashed to victory in several events in the southern relays, and the Plainsmen have taken the measure of a few goods teams in dual meets. In the hurdle races, the jumps, and the field events, the Tigers seem to have the edge, while the Jackets look best in the dashes. The distance races seem to be a toss-up, but the Jackets will have to come through strong in these events to have any chance of winning the meet.

Whitney Is Favored To Win Preakness

Famous Owner May Capture Trophy for Third Successive Year—Has Two Favorites.

Baltimore, May 6.—(AP)—With but little likelihood that prominent Preakness candidates will be seen again on the tracks before the running of the classic on Friday, horsemen today were conning their performances.

Possibility that Harry Payne Whitney might capture the Woodlawn vase, Preakness trophy, for the third year in succession was seen in the impressive victory scored by his colt, Bargello in the King's County handicap at Jamaica last week. Another Whitney entry for the Preakness also attracted attention at Jamaica by the manner in which Beacon Hill won the three-quarters of a mile dash.

Beacon Hill is brother of Bostonian, the Whitney horse that started the series of Preakness victories for his colors in 1927. Victorian took the 1928 classic for the second successive Whitney triumph. With the recent showing of Bargello and Beacon Hill there was a quick shift from the opinion that sale of the Nut to the Warm stable had disposed of the Whitney chances for the big stake.

The showing of Mel, another Preakness candidate, in the King's county Preakness or derby class, and left the belief that the Rancocas stable would pin all hopes on Leucite next Friday.

Meanwhile Saturday's running at

TILDEN TAKES TWO DEFEATS

Hennessey and Van Ryn Down Veteran in Tryouts.

Philadelphia, May 6.—(AP)—William T. Tilden, No. 1 in the United States rankings, took a double drubbing on the courts today in tuning up workouts with Johnny Hennessey, Indianapolis, and John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., both members of the Davis cup team to represent the United States in the tie with Canada May 16, 17 and 18.

Hennessey was the first to take on his former tutor and turned him back, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. The Hoosier star was in good form and displayed brilliant tennis in disposing of "Big Bill."

Van Ryn defeated Tilden in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3. Tilden was tired and somewhat off his game against Van Ryn and the former Princeton team captain resorted to a driving back court game which enabled him to score repeatedly.

Powerhouse.

In an exhibition game with Baltimore, Pat Crawford, of the Giants, drove in nine runs with three home runs, and scored his team's tenth.

Good as Gold Wins Third Straight Race

Mrs. Jeffords' Two-Year-Old Filly Takes Homebred Stakes.

New York, May 6.—(AP)—Good As Gold, Mrs. Walter Jefford's two-year-old filly, added another race to her string today by winning the Homebred stakes over the four and one-half furlong course at Pimlico.

The victory was the third straight for Good As Gold, the other two wins having been achieved in the $5,000 added Pimlico Nursery and the $10,000 added Aberdeen stakes. On her only other time out she finished second.

There were eight starters in today's stake event, with Mrs. Jefford's entry being made the odds on favorite. Breaking sixth, Good As Gold wore the lead down, rounding the far turn to take a lead of four lengths as they entered the stretch. During the last furlong, however, she showed a tendency to quit and Jockey Fields had to use the whip to bring his mount under the wire one and one-half lengths in front of Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Mint Airy, which took down the place. Colossal was third.

The Rancocas stable scored a victory in the Ashburton purse, when Mowlee defeated Sortie which came up from last place to finish strong.

The first running of the Jamaica handicap, a six-furlong sprint, saw W. J. Zeigler's colors flash to victory on Polydor. With the veteran Mack Garner up, Polydor ran the distance in 1:15 4-5 and at the end had a length to spare. J. L. Holland's Ramonour was second with J. F. Byer's Son O'Battle taking down third.

Chaff, five-year-old daughter of Trompela Morle from the Dearborn stable, won the feature event at Aurora, a six-furlong sprint. Alto was second and Sixty was third. After acting badly at the starting line Chaff was shifted to the outside, but quickly went into the lead and was never headed. The winner paid $21.32 for a $2 mutual ticket.

Glad To Win.

Despite the fact the regulation five innings were played, President Ernest Pools, of the Reading club, said he would honor the rain checks of the crowd at the first Sunday game.

Canadians May Upset Dope in Davis Cup Tennis Matches

Lott Is Held Ready For 'Emergency'

U. S. Tennis, Undeclared in Preliminaries Since 1907, Is Fearful.

By Ted Vorburgh.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York, May 6.—(AP)—It may be because of the presence of a young man with the disturbingly French-sounding name of Marcel Rainville in the opposing ranks, but the powers behind the American Davis cup tennis campaign appear to be taking the forthcoming match with Canada more seriously than might have been expected.

Not content to rest the country's racket in the capable hands of John Hennessey, Janon Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, the Davis cup committee has called upon George Lott to hold himself in readiness to play "in event of an emergency" although that individual is making a serious effort to go to college and took no part in the southern tournaments which were to serve as tryouts.

NEW STAR. Apparently the "emergency" feared is the possibility of disconcerting reverses at the hands of the Canadians in the early matches of the United States-Canada contest at Montreal, which will start on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The records indicate no real ground for apprehension unless the aforesaid Rainville, a youthful French-Canadian making his first appearance on the team, is of the same piece as Cochet and Lacoste.

While commanding respect as good, sound tournament players, Jack Wright and Willard Crocker, the veterans of the Canadian team, have never inspired much fear in the hearts of ranking American stars. With this pair doing most of the playing, Canada, since the war, has not yet beaten any country except Cuba and has been pulverized repeatedly by Australia and Japan.

Last summer the Japanese downed Canada by four matches to one, only to lose all five matches to the United States later. Bill Tilden was on that team but the younger players ably supported their end, Hennessey and Hunter, respectively, on indoor courts in Philadelphia yesterday, the two Johnnies, Hennessey and Van Ryn, proved that they can do more than take care of themselves.

Even with Lott in Chicago and Tilden and Frank Hunter off on their independent invasion of Europe, a Canadian victory would be down as one of the biggest upsets in Davis cup history. Only once in all that period has Uncle Sam been beaten in a preliminary round and that was back in 1907 by the great Australians, Brookes and Wiliam.

Golf Growing.

Golf is growing in popularity with New York High school boys. The annual meet this spring drew 14 school teams.

SPORTING CELEBRITIES: NO. 6—PAULINO UZCUDUN

This axman from the Pyrenees Is tougher than his native trees, And no man yet has made him run, I mean Paulino Uzcudun.

He has a large and hairy paw, They break their fists upon his jaw; For socking rock is not much fun, I mean Paulino Uzcudun.

He has a chest built like a cask, This heavy, thick-set, burly Basque, Who grins to see his claret run, I mean Paulino Uzcudun.

He's hardly called a fancy type, His boxing skill is largely tripe; But he'll take four to slip you one, This fellow known as Uzcudun.

I like the way he marches in With granite jaw and ears of tin, And tries to claw or crack or stun, I mean Paulino Uzcudun.

Yes, I could write you twenty more Such verses from my endless store, But as it is I think I've spun Enough about this Uzcudun.

THE SECOND BASE COMBINATION.

Lou Gehrig, of the Yankees, recently said that next to a strong pitching staff, one of the main requirements of a pennant-winning club was a strong second base combination.

Past history will show pretty well that Gehrig is right. The old Cubs had Tinker and Evers, one of the greatest pairs of all time, and they won four pennants within five years. The old Athletics had Barry and Collins, another pair fully as brilliant, and they also won four pennants in five years. One of the main reasons for the Braves' success in 1914 was their second base combination of Maranville and Evers.

The Giants during their four-year reign had Bancroft and Frisch, another powerful combination. When the Cardinals won in 1927 they had Thevenow and Frisch, almost as good. The Senators had Peck and Harris during their winning years, and the Yankees had Koenig and Lazzeri as they peeled off three pennants.

A team with a weakness around second can break apart quickly in defensive play, even if it gets good pitching. Too many balls are hit through the two positions and there are too many chances for double plays. A strong combination here can frequently save two or three runs that a weaker pair would lose.

If Connie Mack's play around second holds up this season he has a better chance to win the pennant than he has ever known since 1914, when Barry and Collins were working side by side.

THE BEST SECOND BASE COMBINATION.

It might be stated here that this refers in the main to the modern game, with no attempt to swing back to the 80's and the early 90's. Here are a few to think about: Long and Low—Boston—late 90's. Wagner and Ritchie—Pittsburgh—1902. Turner and Lajoie—Cleveland—1905. Tinker and Evers—Chicago—1906. Bush and Schaefer—Detroit—1907. Barry and Collins—Philadelphia—1910. Maranville and Evers—Boston—1914. Bancroft and Frisch—New York—1922.

The may have been a more brilliant defensive pair in this list than Barry and Collins; but I doubt it.

THE HARDEST SCHEDULE.

Get a few old football men together in any season and the talk is football. They were talking about hard schedules for next fall. The argument was steam up until some one mentioned the Army's campaign—which among others will include Yale, Harvard, Illinois, Notre Dame and Stanford.

And this doesn't make mention of a powerful Ohio Wesleyan invasion, a team that beat Michigan last fall, and may be even stronger this year. Not to forget that out at Illinois Dr. Zuppke will throw every division he has into the Army engagement, it being one of the doctor's chief pleasures and diversions to toss the poisoned harpoon into eastern football flesh at every given chance. And he hasn't failed often enough in any of the vital statistics.

TODAY'S GOLF TIP.

Did you ever finish your back swing and then let the clubhead descend through its own speed, unchecked by some incorrect effort? You might try it some time and you might also be surprised how much speed it develops in this way about the time it reaches the bottom of the arc.

Rain Did Not Dim Their Jewell.

United News Staff Correspondent.

Muirfield, Scotland, May 6.—(United News.)—Through a downpour of rain, an Englishman little known to international golf—F. C. Jewell, of Long Ashton—led the field of 242 at the end of the first qualifying round of the British open championship today.

Jewell's 72, made on the municipal course at Gullane, was the best effort of the day which found the harsh weather bringing some of the favorites among the American entrants close to the danger line.

Most of the professionals from the United States appear certain to qualify at the end of the 36-hole test which will be concluded Tuesday, but Johnny Farrell, with 82 for his first 18; Gene Sarazen, with 81, and Ed Dudley, with 83, will have to do some tall shooting tomorrow to get in.

CRICKSHANK UP.

Bobby Cruickshank, with 73, led the American professionals, and has become a hot favorite locally to win the championship.

George Von Elm, California amateur, matched Cruickshank's 73, but under weather conditions slightly less trying earlier in the day.

The other Americans played well enough, considering the downpour, as did the British favorites, who, on the whole, averaged better than the pros from over-seas.

If Johnny Farrell fails to qualify tomorrow, the American national champion can thank a 9 at the 17th which ruined his card.

Leo Diegel, United States professional champion, finished one stroke behind the two American leaders, Cruickshank and Von Elm, shooting a 74.

Walter Hagen, defending champion, played in his characteristic early style by finishing well up among the leaders with a 75. It will be remembered that Hagen won the title last year by shooting consistent golf which kept him up among the leaders until the final day.

Jimmy Thompson, Knoxville, Tenn., amateur turned in an unexpected 77, tying with Al Watrous and Tommy Miss Wills, however, practiced tennis rather than curries during her first day in London. She spent most of the afternoon at practice for her forthcoming matches here and on the continent.

The "training" for court presentation consists of learning the proper entrance, how to walk, and how to bow and make a graceful exit. The curries this year will be easier for the debutantes, the style experts have pointed out, because the skirts will be fuller.

The debutantes—there will be the 20 United States women presented—will curtsy only to Queen Mary, who will sit alone on the throne this year. The prince of Wales will be with the other members of the royal family around the throne, in attendance on his mother.

At the Mrs. Ray Atherton, wife of the charge d'affaires at the United States embassy, will present Miss Wills.

The tennis star prefers to remain silent on the question of her presentation but she is quite willing to let it be known that she is really excited as the day draws near.

"I am looking forward to it enormously," she said, "more than I can say."

She will leave Friday for Europe, going first to The Hague to compete in matches there and later playing in Berlin. She will return to London June 12 for her own art exhibition here and to play in the matches at Wimbledon starting June 24.

Armour. All three are likely to qualify.

Considering the fact that he played through the heaviest part of the downpour, Horton Smith's 78 was one of the best cards of the day. The young Joplin (Mo.) professional attracted quite a crowd which followed him around despite the heavy rain.

Five American professionals turned in a 79 Johnny Golden, Joe Turney, Bill McIlhenny, MacDonald Smith and Jim Barnes.

Four of the leading British professionals finished well up among the leaders. Archie Compston, Abe Mitchell and Aubrey Boomer each shot a 75, while George Duncan turned in a 78.

Von Elm and Thompson are the only two American amateurs out of the seven entered who seem likely to qualify.

Joe Jurado, the diminutive Argentine professional who was a sensation in last year's tournament, went around in 76 and seems likely to qualify.

Following the second qualifying round Tuesday the field will be cut down to one hundred. If there are any ties for one hundredth place, all of them will be included in the championship field.

GENERAL ESCOBAR FLEES ACROSS BORDER

Rebel Leader, Well Provided With Funds, To Stay in U. S.

El Paso, Texas, May 6.—(AP)—General Jose Gonzalo Escobar, commander-in-chief of the ill-fated Mexican revolutionary army, flew across the border into the United States Thursday, from former Governor Topete, of Sonora, and conferred with Governor Rodriguez, of Baja California, at a ranch near Gila Bend, Ariz., Saturday, it was learned today.

John C. Uhlir, a California rancher, who met Escobar after he crossed the border, told the story of the flight here.

"Escobar, accompanied by Topete, and another rebel general, flew across the border, heavily armed, but not accompanied by any bodyguard, to attend a conference with Rodriguez, which was arranged by an American mining engineer at his ranch near Gila Bend," the rancher said.

"When the conference ended, Escobar asked permission to recross the border into Baja California, but was flatly refused by Rodriguez. Escobar became so angry I thought there was going to be trouble."

"Escobar later, however, appeared in the best of spirit, and while he refused to reveal his ultimate destination, he said he would spend some time with a friend at a ranch in the southwest. He said he intended to leave Gila Bend after dark Saturday night."

The rebel leader told Uhlir he would claim the protection of the United States government by "the same right the Kaiser of Germany claimed that of Holland at the close of the World War."

"We had plenty of money," Escobar was quoted by Uhlir as saying, "but the United States was against us. We tried repeatedly to get munitions across the border but failed because of the strict guard maintained by the American border controls."

"Escobar appeared to have plenty of money when he arrived at Gila Bend," Uhlir said.

It was believed here that Escobar had taken refuge on a ranch between Gila Bend and Ajo, Ariz.

BAHAMA SURVEY FAILS TO REVEAL FRUIT FLY TRACES

Nassau, Bahamas, May 6.—(AP)—A survey completed by the board of agriculture has failed to find any trace of the Mediterranean fruit fly in the Bahamas. According to official statement, there is no record of the fly ever having been found in the islands, and official sources are anxious to correct reports from Washington to the effect that Florida had possibly been infected by imports from the Bahamas. A United States federal commission made a survey of the islands in 1916 and failed to find a trace of the pest.

Former Georgia Lawyer Fights Woman's Suit

Alamosa, Colo., May 6.—(AP)—Dr. William S. Humphreys, Jr., St. Louis chiropractor and former Georgia lawyer, who was served with notice of a $10,000 breach of promise suit filed here by Mrs. Elizabeth Gorsline, of Denver, today declared he would "fight the case to a finish."

He displayed certain letters bearing Mrs. Gorsline's signature, which he said he would use in his defense.

The chiropractor said he met Mrs. Gorsline here last "ear through a matrimonial advertisement he inserted in a Denver newspaper, and they arranged with an Alamosa pastor for a wedding that evening, but that for certain reasons, he refused to go through with the marriage.

Dr. Humphreys is 48 years old and has a son and daughter of mature age. Mrs. Gorsline is about the same age and has a married daughter in Denver.

Humphreys was a lawyer at Moultrie, Ga., for eight years before he became a chiropractor in St. Louis in 1925. His father was the late William S. Humphreys, Sr., Georgia politician, lawyer and jurist.

TEXTILE PLANT OPENS UNDER HEAVY GUARD

Elizabethport, Tenn., May 6.—(AP)—Under the ominous nozzles of machine guns mounted on roofs and guarded by approximately 600 city, county and state officers, the mechanical and chemical departments of the Alamosa Bemberg and Glanzstoff textile plants resumed operations after being closed since April 15 by a strike.

William Kelley, vice president of the United Textile Workers, expressed his opinion that "not more than a dozen" men had worked for work this morning, while no official figures were available from the plants.

Registration of applicants for employment went forward at both Elizabethport and Johnson City as other mills resumed past the plants as a show of union strength.

Plant officials announced that forces would be augmented gradually as other departments were opened. Approximately 5,500 were made idle by the strike, the second to be called within a space of three weeks. Union leaders said its purpose was to "do away with blacklists," they claimed the plants were enforcing against union members. The companies, however, denied the charges.

Settlement of the first strike, confined to the Glanzstoff plant, resulted in an increase in wages, but he was released a few minutes later. The other was charged with "picketing" and arrested. He was released under $25 bond furnished by the union. Officers said he was near company headquarters urging men not to return to work.

Five companies of national guardsmen, serving as state police, assisted in guarding the plants.

This marked the first step in the complete Japanese military evacuation of Shantung which was expected would be concluded by May 27.

TALKS BY RADIO PHONE WITH MOVING TRAIN

Toronto, May 6.—(AP)—The feasibility of two-way telephone connection between a moving train and a stationary point has been demonstrated on the Canadian National railway. Last night a train carrying a radio for passengers on trains between Chicago and Toronto.

A two-hour conversation was maintained between a train speeding northward through Ontario at 40 miles an hour and the main offices of the road at Toronto yesterday.

The telephone wires along the railroad track were connected by a system which has been developed under the direction of J. C. Burkholder, of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, at Newark, N. J.

Radio waves carry the voice of the speaker in the railway car to the wires which the impulses are transmitted to the receiving point.

The test was begun by W. D. Robb, vice president in charge of the Canadian National railway telegraph and telephone service. He picked up an ordinary telephone instrument and asked the operator for Mr. Barber, general manager of the Canadian National Telegraphs. The connection was made promptly.

After Mr. Robb had congratulated Mr. Barber on the success of the device other railroad officials conversed until the test had consumed two hours.

Mr. Robb said the telephone service for use of passengers will be installed as soon as possible on fast trains between Chicago and Toronto. The system is operating up to 150 miles and as long as the telegraph wires are not more than 200 feet from the track, Mr. Robb said a single wire would be sufficient to carry the message and in other places where the telegraph wires are not available.

A two-way telephone system has been tested in Germany, but that system requires that an operator throw a switch to permit either speaking or listening, but the Canadian system is a break in on the conversation.

Telephone conversation by radio between the locomotive and the freight train has been successfully tested by the New York Central railroad.

VESTIS 2ND OFFICER PUT FAITH IN MASTER

London, May 6.—(AP)—Second officer Leslie Watney, continuing testimony today at the court of trade inquiry into the Vestris disaster, attributed the sinking to "a combination of factors which made it impossible for the ship to avoid the iceberg."

That the ship was overloaded "had a lot to do with it," he said, adding that the ship failed to steer at noon on Sunday but that he could not say that a matter of importance, that the master was there and would know what the ship could do.

Asked if he did not think an SOS should have been sent out sooner than it was, Watney replied: "No, not at all. I did not think so."

He did not think that an SOS should be necessarily sent out when a ship failed to steer.

Watney testified that at first when he reached New York after the sinking, he said nothing about the disaster, but he told Captain William H. Cooles of the Navigation and General Insurance Company.

Replying to Butler Aspinwall, who for the board of trade, said that at the inquiry held in the United States by United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, the witness was asked what the draught of the Vestris was and the court found that she was not overloaded but that the draught was 23 feet 6 inches.

Watney said that the draught was 23 feet 6 inches, but that the draught was 23 feet 6 inches, but that the draught was 23 feet 6 inches.

CHARLES E. HUGHES, JR. NAMED U. S. SOLICITOR

Son of Former Secretary of State Will Succeed William D. Mitchell.

Washington, May 6.—(AP)—Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., of New York, has been appointed solicitor-general of the United States by President Hoover. He succeeds William D. Mitchell, of Minnesota, who became attorney-general on March 4.

Mr. Hughes, who is 40 years old, is the son of Charles Evans Hughes, former secretary of state, who is among the "elder statesmen" of the republic and to whom the chief executive often turned for counsel both in the matter of appointments to high offices and administration policies.

A White House announcement of the appointment today said Hughes had been sponsored for the appointment by the patronage committee set up in New York state by the president and composed of Charles E. Evans Hughes, state chairman; H. Edmond Macdonald, state chairman; and William H. Hill, who headed the independent republican Hoover-for-president organization in the Empire state.

Mr. Hughes is a graduate of Brown university and the Harvard law school, the law school of the city of New York, and the World War and has been moderately active in New York politics since his father was a candidate for the presidency in 1916.

The post to which Hughes was named is one of the most important in the department of justice. The solicitor-general prepares briefs for all government cases presented to the supreme court, argues cases for the government in the supreme court, and takes out of the department of justice briefs that are prepared for other courts.

This place has been held by men more widely known to the country, including William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States; John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain, and democratic presidential candidate in 1924, and James M. Beck, now a member of the house of representatives from Pennsylvania.

MISSISSIPPI NEGRO SHORN OF POWER

Washington, May 6.—(AP)—Shorn of his political power by President Hoover, Perry W. Howard, negro national committeeman for Mississippi, who recently was acquitted of charges of receiving money to influence federal appointments, resigned today as assistant attorney general.

The resignation was coincident with the lifting of the suspension order issued by former Attorney-General Sargent, after Howard's indictment in Mississippi about a year ago in connection with patronage affairs. He twice was brought to trial and was acquitted in each instance.

Attorney-General Mitchell said he had not requested Howard's resignation.

The retiring assistant attorney-general continues to hold the title of national committeeman for Mississippi but the direction of party affairs was taken out of his hands during the campaign and now is in charge of a committee from which negroes have been eliminated.
